GROUNDED BARGES. Workers from the Okie Moore Diving and Salvage Co. of St. Louis watch as a tugboat pushes a barge off the Chain of Rocks Canal levee on Chouteau Island Friday. Two barges were left on the levee last weekend when high winds and high water pushed the empty barges on the canal bank, located south of the old canal bridge. When the water level dropped, a tugboat and two barge cranes were needed to move the barges back into the canal. The barges are owned by R & R Services, Inc. of Kansas City, Mo.

Brimberry trial in Alton today

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

The trial of Thomas R. Brimberry, 39, of Granite City, opened this morning in the federal district court of U.S. District Judge William L. Beatty in Alton after a pretrial conference in Judge Beatty's chambers Friday. At that conference, Brimberry agreed to end his hunger strike.

This morning's opening trial session was dominated by an orientation session for potential jurors, from which the public and press were excluded. Selection of jurors was expected to begin later today.

Brimberry is standing trial despite illness. St. Clair County Sheriff Merle Justus says Brimberry, a diabetic, had refused to eat or to take insulin after his transfer from a federal medical facility in Springfield, Mo., to the St. Clair County Jail in Belleville Wednesday. He suffers from ulcers on his feet from the diabetes.

A doctor was brought to Brimberry's infirmary bed in the jail Friday morning, but Brimberry refused to let the doctor examine him, Justus said. "He wouldn't let the doctor look at him or take blood to check the sugar level in it," the sheriff added.

"All he told me is that it's just a personal thing with him that he's not going to eat or take insulin. He says he's not mad at anybody around here," Justus added, denying published reports that Brimberry was protesting poor medical care during his last stay at the St. Clair County Jail.

Justus said Brimberry wanted assurance that he could continue to make "his phone calls" and was told that he is limited to three a week, the same as all other prisoners.

Justus said, "He doesn't look ill, at this point," but the sheriff predicted that Brimberry would have ended up in a hospital if he did not eat. "I guess a guy could get by on water for some time, but I would think if you don't eat and you're on insulin, that's what will happen."

Sheriff Justus related that Brimberry said he is ready to stand trial this week. However, Justus notes, Brimberry had not seen his attorneys last week. "He hasn't seen them since he's been here, to my knowledge," the sheriff told the Press-Record late Friday. Saturday, however, Justus said Brimberry was spending the weekend preparing his case.

Prior to being transferred to St. Clair County, Brimberry had been in Springfield, Mo., to undergo psychiatric tests to determine if he is competent to stand trial. Results of those tests were not available, but the start of the trial indicates he is able.

Brimberry is being tried on three of the 15 federal counts against him in connection with the looting and subsequent collapse of the former Slix & Co. stock brokerage in St. Louis. Brimberry was the senior vice president when it was discovered that approximately $16 million worth of stocks had been replaced by phony certificates.

The brokerage was then found insolvent and was closed by federal authorities.

Among the charges now being tried is one count that Brimberry asked Jerry Maeras of Madison to burn records which had been subpoenaed by a federal grand jury. Between 1977 and 1981, Brimberry had more than $1.2 million deposited into the bank account of Maeras Enterprises, Inc., in First National Bank in Madison, the indictment charges.

Brimberry remains in custody in lieu of a $100,000 cash bond in Illinois and Judge Beatty has refused to reduce that bond.

'Quake clogs police phones

Shortly after a moderate earthquake shook the area Sunday, local police stations were inundated with telephone calls from concerned and curious residents, police logs indicate.

The earthquake rattled windows, shook homes and alarmed many people as it rumbled through the area at 12:17 a.m. Sunday, but caused no damage, except for reports of broken windows in East St. Louis. The earthquake measured 4.4 on the Richter scale, according to data accumulated at the National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., a center that measures seismic activity throughout the nation.

"The epicenter of the earthquake was near Highland and officials there reported receiving 'hundreds of calls' after the earth stopped shaking.

In the Quad-City area, residents, still shaken by the May 1 tornado thought another twister had hit. Others reported they first thought of basic oxygen furnace at Granite City Steel and some believed the earthquake was an explosion or sonic boom.

Residents reported being awakened as their beds shook and others said the walls of their homes appeared to be moving.

Recently, the media has paid particular attention to scientific research being accumulated about the New Madrid fault line, which is centered in southeast Missouri. Immediate concerns here were that the earthquake was associated with that fault, which has not had any significant activity in recent times, but seismologists at St. Louis University said the tremor was not caused by the New Madrid fault.

The earthquake was felt in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Arkansas, all of which would be affected by activity from the New Madrid fault.

Between late 1811 and the early months of 1812, there was a series of sizeable earthquakes generating from the fault, which scientists believe would measure 8.4 or 8.5 on the Richter scale—the highest earthquake on record is 8.9.

The Richter scale measures ground motion recorded on seismographs with each increase of one number (for instance, from 3 to 4) representing a tenfold increase in intensity. Sunday's earthquake was capable of causing moderate damage.

Although there was no damage reported, residents still were alarmed. The Madison police log indicated there were "thousands of calls" about the earthquake and Venice police reported "many" calls.

Granite City police headquarters was swamped with calls that jammed telephones and clogged radio transmissions while the dispatcher tried to answer calls from both.

Someone called Madison police saying his home had blown up, but the concerned caller was reassured that the "explosion" was actually an earthquake.

The last measurable earthquake shook the area Sept. 20, 1978, and measured between 3 and 3.5 on the Richter scale with an epicenter in South St. Louis.

It has been predicted by scientists that a major earthquake could occur here within the next 30 years on the New Madrid fault, which runs northeast beginning at a spot in Arkansas about 50 miles away from Memphis. It trends northeast, continuing near Tiptonville, Tenn., at a point south of Reelfoot Lake and then goes northwest just west of New Madrid, Mo., where it again moves northeast before ending in Southern Illinois.

Racism hinders Chicago mayor, 3 black leaders here contend

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The recent Chicago mayoral election in which Harold Washington was chosen as that city's first black leader was tainted with racism, indicative of the black community's continuing struggle for equality and acceptance, John Jacob, president of the National Urban League and one of the nation's most influential black leaders, said during a visit to Granite City.

Jacob spoke about the Chicago election at the sixth anniversary dinner of the Madison County Urban League last week.

Although Washington won the election, "the scars will remain for a long time," Jacob said during his speech.

Two local black leaders, Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols and the Rev. John Henry Williams, apparently agree that the mayoral election will continue to have a negative impact until Washington is allowed to do his job.

Echols, who attended Washington's inauguration with East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer, said he can identify with the problems experienced in Chicago during the election.

"I've been in similar circumstances. I knew they had a problem (in Chicago). But I think Harold can meet the challenge," he said.

Racism, however, was "crystal clear" during the election. Several times, Washington was heckled as he gave campaign speeches and, now that he has been elected, the corps of white troublers are equally due to the "white establishment of Chicago's" unwillingness to cooperate with a black mayor.

"The white establishment has not influenced the 29 aldermen to try to do anything (to stop the racism)," he said.

Because not many whites voted for Washington, his election shows the potential strength of the black vote. Echols and Jacob both observed.

"Nationally, the big lesson of this campaign is the latent power of the black vote," Jacob said during his speech. Continued unity is necessary if the black vote is to have a further impact on the political scenario, he told reporters.

Echols and Williams agreed.

"Chicago is the focus point. The whole world is watching Chicago," Williams said.

But in his opinion, the top priority must be for the aldermen to sit down with Washington in attempt to iron out the problems. It's a personal grudge, he said of the troublers.

As "peace talks" continued this week in Chicago, Williams predicted that the controversy will adversely affect the Democratic party. Chicago, long a city controlled by the Democratic Daley machine, "needs to wake up," he said.

Williams also predicted there will be "chaos in Chicago" if problems are not resolved so the government can begin to function under its new leadership.

"If he (Washington) was a white man there wouldn't be this chaos. People need to get on the aldermen who will not let Washington do his job."

While all three men believe that Washington's election will have an impact on national politics, none of them think the time is right for a black presidential candidate for a variety of reasons.

Home Show to open Friday at ice rink

The Wilson Park Ice Pavilion will again be the site this weekend for the second annual "Home Show '83," to exhibit the latest in home furnishings, remodeling materials and supplies.

The three-day event, May 20 to 22, is being sponsored by Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, 1909 Edison Ave. To coincide with the show, the Trust Bank has announced that $2 million will be available for home improvement loans to be offered at reduced rates during May and June.

"Home Show '83" will open its door to the public at 6 p.m. Friday. The show will be in progress until 10 p.m. on Saturday from 1 to 10 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Admission will be free and there will be no charge for parking at the show location. Attendance prizes will be given to some of the visitors.

Drew Karandjef, president of Granite City Trust and Savings, said the overwhelmingly success of last year's home show insured a repeat performance this year. Dan Debert, bank vice president, is this year's show chairman.

One highlight of Home Show '83 will be the appearance of two St. Louis Steamers soccer players, forward Tony Bellingier and goalie Stash Iljevski, from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The Granite City Police Department will use its video tape equipment to show aerial scenes of the destruction of the May 1 tornado.

The Granite City Park District also will be manning a booth to distribute its new summer activities brochures, according to David Nolan, director of parks and recreation. Park employees will show a film about the park facilities available in the 1960s and the contrasting improvements made during the last decade.

The Granite City Press-Record will have a booth showing typesetting equipment and reporters will be there at various hours looking for comments for its "Reader's React" column.

About 90 area business firms will be showing exhibits. A special supplement in Thursday's Press-Record will give a complete list of exhibitors and booth assignments at the festival. (Continued on Page 3)

FINE ARTS FESTIVAL. Joe Whaley was one of several graduating seniors displaying artwork at the Granite City High School South Fine Arts Festival Thursday evening. About 850 pieces of artwork were displayed on the walls at South. Watercolors, tempera paintings, pen and ink drawings, pencil sketches and clay sculptures were among the art works exhibited. Ann Rich, South art teacher, said she was pleased with the large numbers of people who came to the festival. The South Band also performed at the festival. (Press-Record Photo by Nancy Weil)

New approaches can aid families of alcoholics

By DEBORAH WILLIAMS
St. Elizabeth
Medical Center

For a long time, chemical dependency was a subject shrouded by misinformation and superstition. The stereotype of the drug addict or alcoholic was that of a lower-class individual, lacking in moral character.

For many, the "cure" for alcoholics or chemically-dependent persons was getting them into some sort of detoxification program and "drying them out." Although such a program is necessary, it is not the only aspect that must be dealt with to achieve a healthy recovery.

Today it is known that dependence on alcohol or mood-altering drugs is an illness. Anyone can be a victim, regardless of age, sex, occupation or religious background.

The disease is treatable. It is not necessary for anyone to lose his job and good health or for families to suffer.

"The sooner treatment begins, the greater the chances are for recovery and a healthy, satisfying life," said Della Kinsolving, director of Talbot Hall, an in-hospital, chemical dependency recovery unit at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

Because chemical dependency has complex physical and psychological implications, treatment at Talbot Hall involves a multidisciplinary team approach, consisting of doctors, nurses, a chaplain, a psychologist, a recreational therapist, a chemical dependency counselor and a family care coordinator.

"Each member of the team brings his particular expertise to rehabilitation planning and counseling, integrating social, emotional, physical and spiritual factors into an individualized treatment plan for each patient," said Mrs. Kinsolving.

In addition to team members working with patients individually, an essential part of the recovery program involves therapy through group counseling. These group sessions, which meet daily, address such topics as grief, feelings, peer and self evaluations, responsibilities and stress management.

"In the group setting," said Myron Schwartz, a Talbot Hall counselor, "team members act as facilitators or guides as patients help themselves by attendance at aftercare group for three months following discharge from the Talbot Hall in-patient program as part of their rehabilitation plan is highly recommended."

"This aftercare program provides support and counseling, giving patients assistance with the hard times and an opportunity to share their triumphs."

Living with a person with chemical dependency has a profound effect on family members, causing strain on the individuals and their relationships with each other.

"Just as the patient needs treatment, the family also needs help understanding the illness and how it affects them," said Ginny Dellamano, family care coordinator. "As the patient recovers and adjusts to a new way of life, the family members also must work towards healthy living through their own recovery."

Realizing that families have special needs, chemical dependency counselors work with the families of Talbot Hall patients through a number of family-oriented programs, helping them cope with the problems they face.

"All people who are involved with an alcoholic or chemically-dependent person suffer some measure of pain and grief," said Mrs. Dellamano. "We believe all these people are equally deserving of care and attention. We also realize recovery from alcoholism or chemical dependency, although in large measure the responsibility of the alcoholic or chemically-dependent person, doesn't happen in a vacuum. Other persons involved with the alcoholic want to and can help."

The five-day out-patient Family Care Program offered by Talbot Hall is based on the treatment philosophy that alcoholism and chemical dependency are family illnesses.

The program offers a treatment plan that includes counseling, education and group activities. The goal of the program, according to Mrs. Dellamano, is to treat the family system and restore balance, help family members break out of destructive patterns of behavior and learn to develop patterns that optimize the personal growth of each concerned person.

One of the issues addressed is the unhealthy roles family members become locked into for survival.

"These roles are learned behaviors and can be changed through effective treatment approaches."

"Without treatment, these roles will be carried into future relationships, thereby repeating the cycle of repressed feelings. Spouses and children become caught in the family trap of enabling behaviors, oftentimes feeling guilt, anger, sadness and intense pain."

In the Family Care Program, these feelings are brought to the surface and healthy choices and alternatives are explored with the help of the other group members. All family members need treatment to avoid repetition of these dysfunctional behaviors in future relationships.

The Family Care Program is available to anyone, whether or not the chemically-dependent family member is receiving treatment.

The program accepts and supports the principles of Al-Anon, an adult support group which helps family members and others work through their problems.

The cost is free to those people whose family members have gone through treatment at Talbot Hall. Otherwise, the cost is $300 for two family members.

Besides the Family Care Program, Talbot Hall also offers a special four-day Children's Program at various times throughout the year for youths between the ages of 9 and 14.

"The Children's Program includes education, opportunities to share feelings, and group activities to develop involvement with peers and to raise self-esteem."

"These children are not accustomed to being touched, being around healthy adults, or being able to talk and have someone listen to them," said Nancy Adams, assistant to the family care coordinator. "It takes intensive work to get these kids to really open up and trust. Everything in their home is unpredictable and they have been conditioned to not take risks for fear of rejection from other family members."

"That's why it is so very important to have the entire family treated when one family member enters Talbot Hall," said Mrs. Dellamano. "These children can see changes in their parents, and soon gain the trust they thought they had lost or that never existed."

"Afterwards, these children are encouraged to join Pre-Ten or Alateen to gain support in their own recovery," she said.

Because of the intensity of these children's needs, the Children's Program is limited to eight participants. The next program is slated for this summer.

The cost of $300 per child or $75 per child if one of their parents has received treatment at Talbot Hall.

In April, a community Family Education Series was initiated at Talbot Hall.

The sessions are held every Tuesday from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. to help families deal with the effects of alcoholism on their lives.

The program, which is directed at the entire family unit, covers such topics as alcoholism as a disease, family members' roles, enabling behaviors, recovery programs and relapse. "This program," said Mrs. Dellamano, "also provides an educational foundation for those people planning to enter the Family Care Program."

The cost of the Family Education Program is $4 per person per session and meets in the Talbot Hall lecture room.

For more information concerning these special programs, interested persons may contact Talbot Hall at 798-3069.

Introduction to business class slated

The Granite City Board of Education has given its approval to an "introduction to business" course for local high school students.

Planning was aided by a grant from the State Board of Education. Committee members were Gus Catanzaro, Mary Hemphill, Richard Moore, Glen Hubbard and Don Davinroy.

Tom Holloway, vocational and career education director, who received board authorization for one-year and five-year plans for 1983-84, estimated 1982-83 vocational reimbursements will total $190,000.

Holloway said the business introductory course will be required for those who plan to major in business. It will be offered in the ninth or tenth grade.

Purpose is to aid students in understanding the business world and exploring business career opportunities.

The course will deal with what business does, its role in an economic system, activities of business, structure of business, business in the enterprise system, business and government, visits to typing, bookkeeping, accounting, secretarial and clerical classes, work experience, the labor force, choosing an occupation, preparing for work, labor union and labor-management interaction.

Deadline for purple decals

Sec. of State Jim Edgar has announced that midnight Tuesday, May 31, is the deadline for car owners with license plate registrations expiring in May to display purple 1984 stickers in the upper right corner of the rear license plate.

About 583,300 renewal applications have been mailed to registered owners who are currently displaying the orange 1983 stickers that expire in May, Edgar said.

Applications made by mail should be in the secretary's office no later than May 16 to ensure delivery by the deadline. Stickers also may be purchased over the counter.

Effective Wednesday, June 1, anyone driving a car with an expired orange May 1983 sticker will be subject to a fine for improper registration.

LAWN MOWER GONE

A red and white lawnmower, valued at $150, was stolen from beneath the back porch at the home of Linda Atkinson, 2316 Cleveland Blvd.

The Illinois Department of Children and Family Services is searching for a two-parent foster family to accept Michael, a 15-year-old child, who cannot live at home because of child neglect.

Described by his social worker as quiet and reserved, he is 5-ft tall and slender with light brown hair and blue eyes.

Michael's interests include fishing and video games. He also enjoys art activities and woodworking. Considered to possess above-average intelligence, he nevertheless does have some difficulty in school.

Foster parents able to relate to teens would be most helpful to Michael. He would do best with an active family that could draw him out of himself and encourage him to make the most of his intelligence.

Foster families are needed in the Metro-East area to accept children who cannot live with their own families because of neglect, abuse, desertion or other family problems. All foster families are thoroughly oriented, trained and supervised by department staff.

After attending four training sessions, submitting references and medical information, and visiting with licensing workers, new foster parents are ready to accept children. A criminal background check is completed on all foster parent applicants. The whole process usually takes about three months.

Foster parents receive monthly board payments ranging from $190 per month for an infant to $235 per month for a teenager. Additional special fees are available and all medical, dental, and pharmaceutical expenses for foster children are paid for by the state.

All foster parents have the option of turning down any child referred for placement. Foster parents who specify the age, sex and number of children they choose to work with are encouraged to turn down any child who would not fit into their family.

Illinois residents interested in caring for Michael or in learning more about the department's foster home programs may call Pat Stallion at 876-8985.

County CD office to conduct hearings

To provide citizens an opportunity to solicit comments and to review the proposed projects, the Madison County Community Development Office will conduct public hearings May 19 and 26 at the courthouse in Edwardsville.

The first hearing is to solicit citizen input about application contents and the second is to allow citizen review of proposed projects. Both hearings will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Madison County will receive about $1.2 million in Community Development funds available through the recently-passed Emergency Jobs Bill. The funds are to finance public works-type projects designed to put persons back to work.

presently defined, would be a mistake," Jacob said. The race, instead, he emphasized on finding the best candidate, regardless of color, to represent minority concerns without avoiding other issues crucial to the entire community.

"The issue must not be color, he said, and added his fear that a black candidate would be considered only on that basis. "There is some merit to the notion," he added about a black candidate.

"At this time, I feel a black candidate running would be a waste of time," Williams told the Press-Record. Blacks must unite "with themselves for the good of the community," agreeing with Jacob that any candidate must be considered on issues that affect "the people as a whole."

Echols, who as mayor of Venice finds himself dealing with an integrated community, said he would "champion the idea" of a black candidate. Both he and Williams mentioned the possibility of "protest" votes and both said they would hate to see that happen. "I'm not much of a protester," Echols said.

With the increasing number of black political leaders, however, the possibility of a black presidential candidate is enhanced. There are "more than 200 black executives (in government),"

Echols said. That increase, which has occurred in recent elections, points to the capabilities of black candidates, Williams said. "I feel that for every qualified white candidate, there are black folks just as qualified for any office in the nation."

Jacob, Echols and Williams all believe Washington, when given the chance, will do a fine job as mayor of Chicago and the three also indicate they think black voters will continue to be a viable force. However, the entire country must unite.

"As long as we hate each other, we'll never have peace," Williams said.

Business personnel will be available to explain the display material and to answer questions for the Home Show visitor.

The show is a "sellout" this year, as far as the number of booths. "We hope to provide a central area where the various business firms can exhibit the newest and latest in home-related items," according to a home show spokesman.

Although displays will concentrate on home renovations and remodeling ideas, other exhibits will demonstrate energy-saving plans, modern appliances, health tips and satellite TV reception.

An estimated 11,000 to 12,000 persons visited the home show last year.

Judge Isbell loses retention vote

Even fellow judges say they are unsure why Associate Judge Isbell failed a retention vote by the circuit judges of the Third Judicial Circuit Court, but Isbell is among those who has applied to fill his own court vacancy.

All associate judges found out late Thursday that they had been retained, except for Isbell and Associate Judge John W. Day, who had announced his retirement. Those retained included judges from Granite City.

Norman Kinder, Tom Hildebrand and George Filloff.

For Isbell, 32, of Collinsville, the news was not good. At least four of the eight circuit judges had to have voted against his retention for him to be ousted. Isbell pointed out that he was rated second highest of the associate judges in a poll of county lawyers recently and 86 percent of the attorneys recommended that he be retained.

Chief Circuit Judge A. A.

Matoesian of Granite City expressed his surprise over the ouster of Isbell. "He is a fine person and a fine judge. An intelligent person. I am surprised. It is a shame something like this has to happen," Judge Matoesian said this morning.

He noted this morning that Judge Isbell "is up here (the county courthouse) right now filing his application" for reappointment.

Some suggested that Isbell may have been the victim of a very quiet effort among powerful lawyers to convince the circuit judges not to retain him, but doubted that such a move could have been kept that quiet.

Reappointment of a judge that has not been retained is not new. Four years ago, Associate Judge Clayton Williams was turned down and then reappointed to his own vacancy.

Judge Isbell has served 2½ years on the bench in family court and then in civil court. Applications for his post will be accepted through mid-June.

The circuit judges are voting this week to fill the vacancy caused by Judge Isbell's resignation. Fifteen lawyers have filed for the post.

NAMED IN WARRANTS

Jackie Lee Gallia, 31, Caseyville, and Danny Ray Selph, 24, Collinsville Rural Route Three, were arrested on Pontoon Road on 1982 Granite City warrants. Gallia was charged with property damage and Selph with driving a car without a city license. Gordon J. Morton, 4502 Namoki Road, was halted at East Chain of Rocks and Engineers roads at 7 p.m. Thursday on a 1982 Granite City warrant alleging no valid vehicle registration.

Catch boy leaving Johnson School

A Mitchell boy, 15, was captured at 10:30 a.m. Saturday while leaving Johnson Grade School through a window. Police took from him a cardboard box containing 100 dollars of monetary contributions to the American Cancer Society.

The donations had been left in the main school office at Johnson, 4225 Old Alton Road. The boy was released to a parent at 11:10 a.m. Sunday and a delinquency petition naming the juvenile is to be sought by police.

ROCKS HIT SQUAD CAR ON ROUTE 3

Madison Police Officer Thomas Voloski told Venice police at 12:10 a.m. Friday that while driving his squad car northbound on Route 3 under the Merchants' Highline Bridge, several rocks struck and damaged the vehicle.

Officer Voloski noted that a train was traveling on the overhead bridge at the time of the incident.

III. House endorses court access

Madison County courts, a "growth industry" for a number of years, can continue to attract civil lawsuits from a wide geographic area, state representatives said in a 74-36 vote on Thursday.

The legislation now goes to the Illinois Senate.

The House vote was seen as a response to a new Illinois Supreme Court rule. The rule was interpreted as being an attempt to discourage local adjudication of complex claims related to other communities and states.

The Third Circuit Court here handles a high volume of litigation, and one of the attractions is believed to be jurors' willingness to consider major monetary awards in instances of personal injury or death.

Another factor is the presence of a number of law firms whose members have extensive skill and experience in handling injury suits.

In the case of Espinosa vs. Norfolk & Western Railway Co., a Michigan worker hurt in that state sued the railroad in this county. Such suits under the Federal Employers' Liability Act can be heard anywhere the defendant does business.

The injured man was awarded $275,000 from the railroad. NW appealed on the basis that the case should have been dismissed due to being scheduled at an inconvenient location.

The Illinois Supreme Court said the Circuit Court erred in not granting dismissal, but it did not overturn the award.

The high court later amended its rules to expand the grounds for appealing judgments in instances where the trial site is disputed.

But the House voted Thursday to reverse this change. Those voting in the majority included Rep. Sam Wolf, Granite City Democrat.

Honor students at SIUE

Quad-City area students were among more than 500 students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville who were recognized for academic achievement at Sunday's annual Honors Day convocation in the University Center.

Approximately 170 students received special awards, including eight from the Quad-Cities.

Granite Cityans earning special recognition included: Janet Adams, who earned the Scripps Howard Award; David J. DeGonia, Outstanding Junior Chemistry Student Award; Jody Maxfield, Basic Electric Award in Electronic Engineering; Barbara Velas McCune and Pamela T. Schaefer, both winning KTVI-Times Mirror scholarships; My Dung Ngoc Nguyen, the Christy Ott Award in Computer Science, and Jeffrey Stamper, the ASCE St. Louis Section's Outstanding Student Award for 1983.

Tom Ostresh of Madison received the Art Service Club Award.

Local students also were recognized for grade point averages of 4.5 or higher. All completed and passed at least 24 calculated hours of studies at SIUE to be eligible for Honors Day recognition.

Three Granite Cityans were recognized for grade point averages of 4.9 or higher. They are juniors Melanie Adair Meenan and Cynthia Kaye Rudder and senior Jane M. Marshall.

Granite City seniors recognized for averages of 4.5 or higher were Scott A. Ahlers, Laura D. Allen, Karen E. Berry, Lori G. Buenger, Rebecca A. Crews, Terrance Derr, James W. Dimitroff, Karen L. Hatcher, Carrie E. Hawks, Rohn S. Johnson, Jane M. Marshall, Gloria Jo Mason,

Curious clogged police phones

Not only did the earthquake Sunday morning jar those of us who were awake, it also paralyzed our law enforcement network.

Officers reported the telephone lines at all Quad-City area police departments were completely clogged by residents calling to ask, "What was that?" A Granite City officer said he had his "hands full" just answering the phones. Madison police reported "thousands of calls after the earthquake and Venice police had been were 'many, many callers.' The State Police phones at Maryville also were tied up by calls.

The point is, had the rumbling been the result of a major explosion or other disaster, persons needing help could not have reached the police because the telephone lines were tied up by the curious callers.

Emergency numbers should be reserved for just that, emergencies. These curious about what happened could have waited a few minutes for the radio or television to inform them.

The first Tuesday of each month at 10 a.m., the city's emergency services blows the tornado siren for a test. The first Tuesday of each month at 10:01 a.m., the police switchboards light up with curious callers and anybody needing the police is doomed to getting a busy signal.

After the May 1 tornado struck, curiosity caused hundreds to get in their cars and drive into the damaged areas, making it difficult for emergency vehicles to get around.

Curiosity is normal, but people should have respect for emergency services. In emergency situations, they should be kept open. Police do not man the phones to provide an up-to-the-minute news service. They are there to provide emergency assistance. The news media will do its best to get the word out to the public as rapidly as possible.

Fight imports of British steel

We don't blame the United Steelworkers for deciding to fight U.S. Steel's proposed steel imports from Great Britain. The new 41-month "giveback" agreement signed this year between steelworkers and steelmakers calls for retention of production in domestic steel mills and seeks to discourage subcontracting of work.

Union President Lloyd McBride said May 11, "U.S. Steel officials could be liable for a great sum of money if they go ahead with this and then are found in violation of our contract. We've asked them to arbitrate now and avoid the risk of having to pay a penalty after the fact. We're going to use every resource we have."

Steelworkers plan to petition the Commerce Department, alleging that such imports would violate U.S. trade law, subsidize imports that can be penalized or restricted if they are shown to injure the steel industry in America.

The union also may file unfair labor practice charges citing excessive job transfers. And it plans to seek Congressional, industry and public support for its position.

The largest domestic steel producer, U.S. Steel is negotiating to buy up to 3,000,000 tons annually of semi-finished steel from British Steel's Ravenscraig, Scotland, plant for finishing at its Fairless Works near Philadelphia.

The two firms would abandon present finishing facilities in Scotland and part of the existing steelmaking facilities at Fairless.

About 1,800 jobs would be lost at Fairless and the arrangement might increase competitive pressure on other producers. It has been assailed by Bethlehem Steel and Inland Steel.

The whole point of the multi-year contract was to curb costs and to accentuate steel production at the mills of this nation. The worthy goal of domestic steel plant utilization should not be discarded, especially before there has been concerted effort to attain it.

Prosecution zeal must have limit

For a Republican to have good re-election prospects in this Democratic area, it may be necessary for him to be in the news often. Immune from challenge of his actions, a prosecutor may be tempted to frequently engage in public controversy. But excesses can harm defendants' rights, charged Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson pointed out May 11.

Dismissing misconduct charges against Assessment Supervisor James Barton, the judge said State's Attorney Don Weber may have acted unfairly in a number of ways.

Public assertions about inadmissible matters, lie tests, topics to be presented to a grand jury, and personal beliefs of the state's attorney—beliefs described by Weber as "virtuous."

At meetings and hearings, remarks on the defendant's character and potential guilt, including the prosecutor's intent to "get him." Requests that citizens "get worked up against" the defendant, who was likened to another man (a convicted sex offender).

Criticism of the defense counsel's "trickery" and the judge's motives. Defense pleadings were called "vexatious, harassing and of no legal effect," even though a court had entered a ruling sustaining such motions.

—Pressure during and between County Board meetings to terminate the defendant's employment. Disparaging remarks, comparing him to other persons charged or convicted. Innuendo of unproven prior "misconduct."

Violation of his right to counsel while he was making a formal statement. Description of a plea of innocence as deceitful. Picturing the Fifth Amendment privilege as a "hiding place."

Distribution of materials that included inadmissible evidence. Distribution of statements on which a motion to suppress was on file; the motion to suppress subsequently was approved.

The judge stressed that the role of a prosecutor "demands diligent protection of the defendant's right to a fair trial" and requires that "the merits be tried in the courtroom," not elsewhere.

He summed up, "A prosecutor must be independent and forceful in enforcement of laws. Courts have no business telling him what to say or when to say it or how to run his office in general. However, when those acts affect constitutional rights, the court must rule."

Winning at any cost and by any means has gone out of vogue. It is prohibited in the judicial process.

Mr. Weber has good intentions. He should recognize that unbridled zeal can be counterproductive and, for the sake of an effective record, ought to be avoided.

Hands across nation June 12

We are not sure precisely what will be accomplished, but the local area will have an opportunity to be involved in a project of awesome dimensions at noon Sunday, June 12.

People will join hands in an attempt to form a human chain across the United States, calling attention to hopes for world peace. The "peace line" route will extend from New York and Washington to San Francisco by way of Interstate 70 in this region.

"Hands in peace" participants are to link their hands simultaneously (1 p.m. in the East and to a.m. in the Far West) and continue the contact for five minutes.

The undertaking is one of a number of ventures stemming from seminars held at the Academy for Peace Research in Plymouth, Mass. Although the major focus will be in the U.S., similar activities are planned in Canada, New Zealand, West Germany and the Netherlands.

Purposes are to celebrate and encourage peace, to choose a positive vision of peace, and to help people reach toward it through an easily-joined, peaceful demonstration.

This is a vast nation, separated by countless miles of desolation in some areas. If backers succeed in attracting enough hand-holders to span the entire continent, it will have been an impressive accomplishment.

Fortunately, or unfortunately, threats to world peace usually do not originate in this land, but instead develop overseas.

The real trick will be to communicate the peace goal not only to the hearts and minds of peace lovers, but also to those persons who are seeking to create instability, repression and war.

EARLINE JOHNSON

Press-Record readers were asked if they believe it is vital to the U.S. to protect interests in Central American countries like El Salvador.

OSCAR R. JONES, Granite City

"I'd say no. We'd better take care of things at home. (There could be a war) if this country keeps sticking its nose in (Central America). Reagan should take care of this country."

VIRGINIA AHRENS, Granite City

"No. I think we made one mistake and that was Vietnam. (Central America) has the potential to be the same thing."

FRED FOX, Granite City

"I think so. Well, I believe if we let things go down there, Communism is going to creep in on us."

EARLINE JOHNSON, Granite City

"No. I just think we've got our nose in too much. I think that's what it's leading up to (another Vietnam)."

Opposes bill to change sanitary district

To the Editor:

I have just learned that legislation (House Bill 1724) has been introduced in the Illinois General Assembly that would substantially change the present laws governing the operation of the Metro-East Sanitary District, and abolishes the requirement that the executive director must be a registered engineer. It authorizes the district to issue revenue bonds without a referendum and would be effective immediately.

House Bill 1724, if enacted into law, would scuttle the real intent of the original legislation creating the sanitary district, and in so doing, I am told, to create a job for the indicted president of the sanitary district as well as to build political machines for the two County Board chairmen.

When Rep. Celeste Stiehl introduced the bill to abolish the old levee district and create a new sanitary district, which was subsequently approved by the voters in a referendum, it was because of the political corruption and misuse of public funds that had become a scandal. If House Bill 1724 becomes law, we will be right back to the old levee board. It also empowers the district to sell, lease or convey any real or personal property, rights-of-way and privileges of the district.

The bill authorizes a member of the board to serve as executive director and abolishes the requirement that the executive director must be a registered engineer. It authorizes the district to issue revenue bonds without a referendum and would be effective immediately.

If a change is needed in the operation of the sanitary district, then it should revert back to election of the commissioners, in my opinion.

While the intent of the 1974 legislation creating the Metro-East Sanitary District was good (requiring both political parties to be represented on the appointed board), the carrying out of that intent has not been good.

In St. Clair County, which by law is required to have one Democrat and one Republican on the Metro-East Sanitary District board, the Republican Party has been shorthanded. The St. Clair County Republican on the sanitary district is from East St. Louis, where 98 percent of the residents are Democrats, and he is, to all intents and purposes, a new sanitary district with the clear understanding and belief that the rules then approved would govern it. If changes are made, then it seems only right that the voters should have to approve them, and that a mere bill approved by the state legislature would not be effective immediately. House Bill 1724 clearly violates the mandate of the voters in the 1974 election.

If a change is needed in the operation of the sanitary district, then it should revert back to election of the commissioners, in my opinion.

Sen. Percy opposes withholding on interest

To the Editor:

Proponents of the new law requiring 10 percent withholding on interest and dividends have claimed that the avalanche of mail we in Congress have received on this issue is simply "an organized lobbying effort by banks and savings institutions."

But I know that when more than 300,000 of my constituents take the time to affix a 20-cent stamp and nearly 100,000 of them send handwritten letters expressing their views—that's grassroots opinion, not organized lobbying.

I'm pleased to report that those who have written are having a strong impact in Washington. On April 21, the Senate voted to cancel the new withholding law until at least 1987. While I favor a permanent repeal and have fought for that since we agreed interest and dividends in the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982, I was one of only three Republican senators voting against the original tax bill.

I voted for this compromise because I felt it was the best we could do under the threat of a presidential veto.

The compromise was worked out by Senator Dole (R-Kan.) — the Senate's main proponent of the withholding law — and Senator Kasten (R-Wis.) — whom I joined in co-sponsoring a bill to repeal the new law. It will simply require taxpayers to attach their 1989 forms to their tax returns, give the Internal Revenue Service better matching tools, and penalize those who seek to avoid paying taxes on interest and dividends. If taxpayer compliance is above 95 percent in 1986, the new law will not go into effect in 1987.

Therefore, the compromise may permanently repeal this new withholding law.

But time is running short. Unless the House of Representatives acts on this compromise soon, banks and corporations will begin withholding interest and dividends on July 1. Nothing could be more unfair to the millions of Americans who accurately report their interest and dividend income and pay taxes on it each year.

Cooling car during a long, hot summer

Falling to check the car's cooling system now may leave a motorist in a bind this summer, says Wayne Young, manager of the AAA-Auto Club's St. Louis diagnostic car clinic.

A car's radiator, hoses, thermostat, water pump, fan and the coolant passages in the engine must all be in good shape to prevent overheating and other problems, Young said Thursday.

This is especially true if the car has air-conditioning. When in operation at high road speeds, auto air-conditioners can consume as much as 10 to 12 of the engine's horsepower, putting added load on the engine's cooling system.

"Without the proper amount of radiator coolant (anti-freeze and water) it's very possible your car will overheat this summer when the air-conditioner is in operation," Young said.

"Many drivers don't realize that their cars need anti-freeze in the radiator coolant just as much in the summer as in the winter. The anti-freeze raises the boiling point of the mixture and prevents overheating and boil-overs," Young said.

The proper mixture of anti-freeze and water should protect the cooling system to minus-30 degrees Fahrenheit.

"The condition of the coolant also should be checked," Young added. "Anti-freeze inhibits rust and has a tendency to lubricate the cooling system."

"Because the properties of anti-freeze deteriorate, anti-freeze needs to be changed periodically — like engine oil, though not as often. Most manufacturers recommend changing the anti-freeze at least every two years."

"A mechanic should pressure-check the cooling system for leaks, too. Though many motorists are unaware of it, a radiator cap maintains a certain pressure in the cooling system."

"The pressure held by the cap also influences the boiling point. The more pressure it holds, the higher the boiling point of the coolant, and vice-versa."

"One that holds too little pressure can cause the coolant to overheat; too much pressure can cause a hose to break."

"Those who have never heard of the fan clutch have even more reason to have it checked. The fan clutch controls the speed of the fan relative to the temperature — the higher the temperature, the faster the clutch turns the fan. If the fan doesn't turn fast enough, the radiator won't be cooled properly."

"Also, look at the fan belt to make sure it is tight and isn't frayed or cracked. The same should be done for the alternator, power steering and air-conditioner compressor belts."

"It takes more than just the flick of a switch to operate a car's air-conditioner. That cool air depends on several of the car's mechanical parts working properly."

"Before summer arrives, turn on the air-conditioning and make sure it operates properly. Have the freon level checked and make sure there are no leaks."

"Freon is a fluid that circulates through the air-conditioning system and absorbs the heat in the passenger compartment. If the system is not fully charged, the air-conditioner will not cool properly."

"The cooling system and

Disc jockey accused of phone fraud

Mike Charles or Michael Charles Ermalinger, 40, Richmond Heights, a former WGNU Radio employee, was named Thursday in a warrant alleging receipt of stolen property and conspiracy to commit a law violation.

The former disc jockey was linked to a ring that made unauthorized telephone calls to such countries as France, England, Israel and Australia, utilizing WGNU's remote access number.

Ermalinger is suspected of giving out the access code to friends, enabling long-distance calls to be billed to the station. WGNU had been victimized since January 1982, St. Louis County police said.

Charged with felony theft were Roger Tran-Son-Tay, 28, University City, Marguerite Schmoeker, 27, South St. Louis County, Pierre LaPlante Jr., 28, Clayton, Ronald Lemons, 27, Maplewood, Pamela Gilbert, 28, University City, and William Arthur, 35, Kirkwood.

A two-month investigation also led to unrelated investigations of telephone service thefts at area colleges, universities and the Missouri School for the Blind. It was noted that calls valued at $20,000 were made in St. Louis and billed to the Carnation Co. of Los Angeles.

More than 100 corporate long-distance codes have been cracked by phone hobbyists, officers said.

CITY OFFICIALS FOR A DAY. Students from Granite City High School North and South got the chance to learn the details of how Granite City government operates May 11. The day, which is sponsored by the Granite City Elks Youth Committee, was postponed one week because of the May 1 tornado which hit the city. ## Metro-East Lutheran plans cheerleader camp

The World Cheerleader Council of Dallas will bring its national staff of professional cheerleader instructors to Edwardsville to conduct a three-day summer cheerleader camp at Metro-East Lutheran High School, July 11-13.

Attendance is open to all students between the ages of 12 and 18, both male and female, and is not restricted to elected cheerleaders.

Classes will be offered at various age levels with different divisions for beginners, intermediate and advanced.

The program of instruction will feature new cheers, chants, songs, pom-pom routines, tumbling, mounts, jumps, technique, pep assemblies, leadership, sportsmanship, appearances, and conduct.

For further information, or to receive registration forms, students interested in attending the camp may contact Mrs. Cherie Sievers, cheerleader sponsor, Metro-East Lutheran High School, 1001 Center Grove Road, Edwardsville, or call her at 1-656-0043 or 1-635-8002.

Deadline for registration is June 27.

DEPOSITS MISSING

Joe Eder, a field supervisor for P. N. Hirsch and Co., reported last week that two bank deposits, amounting to $991 and $549, were missing April 21 and April 22 from the company's store at 3220 Namecki Road.

Free tests for diabetes

Free blood sugar tests aimed at discovering unknown diabetics will be offered at a Gascon Drug Namecki Village Shopping Center, on Saturday, May 21, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The tests, which consist of obtaining a small drop of blood from a fingertip, are sponsored by Gascon in conjunction with the Professional Pharmacists Association of Madison and St. Clair Counties and the Greater St. Louis Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association.

An estimated 50,000 persons in the bi-state area have diabetes and do not know it. Those at highest risk of developing the disease are overweight, over 35 years old, and have a family history of diabetes. Other high risk group include women between the 24th and 26th weeks of pregnancy and black people.

For accurate test, a person must have eaten at least 100 grams of carbohydrates two hours prior to the test. A breakfast of large glass of fruit juice, one cup of cereal (cooked or dry), one-half cup milk, two cups of sugar, and a piece of toast with 1 tablespoon jelly or jam would be suitable.

The screening tests are not for known diabetics, as such persons should not consume a high carbohydrate meal. Diabetes is now the third leading cause of death in the U.S. and can lead to such serious complications as heart attack, stroke, kidney disease, blindness and gangrene. These complications can be minimized or prevented by early detection and careful treatment of the disease.

WARRANT ARREST

Arrested last week on an active warrant alleging failure to pay the fine on a disorderly conduct charge, James Hill, 22, of 1327 Meridian Ave., later appeared in court and was granted until July 20 to pay the fine, plus $10 costs, and was released.

BOARD OF APPEALS HEARS REQUESTS

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has endorsed a rezoning for mobile homes and one house and suggests denial of a rezoning request. The rezoning recommendations, followed hearings conducted recently in Quad-City area townships.

Endorsements for mobile home placements include: Leo Stanton, owner and Jerry Cook, owner in Nameoki Township; Clarence Stanton, owner and Michael Olson, owner, 202 Lakeview Drive, Chouteau Township; Barbara Lash, owner and Karen Lash, owner, 8405 Cole Road, State Park Place.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Stanton, owners of a mobile home, who reported having found the items, reported said.

At that point, officers discovered a step-van with the passenger window broken and a bicycle tied to the metal near the window.

The owner of the vehicle, William Hughes, 1746 State St., was contacted. Tool boxes inside the truck-van had been opened.

A shirt found outside the van was wrapped around several hand tools. The sheet found in the roadway also came from the step-van, it was learned.

A total of 98 tools, including various size wrenches, screwdrivers, nut drivers, ratchets and socket sets, had been in the vehicle.

The woman borrowing his jacket was about 5 feet, 10 inches tall and of medium build, with long, medium blonde hair. Her companion was 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighed about 180 pounds and had short brown hair.

The same women may have been involved in an earlier incident in which an individual had money taken under similar circumstances at a Granite City tavern, the Press-Record learned.

Prior to retiring some years ago, she was employed as a seamstress for many years at the Jo Moore Dress Co. in St. Louis.

Mrs. Ward was of the Protestant faith.

Venice Park names new staff

The Venice Park Board of Commissioners appointed a new attorney and park superintendent as part of its annual reorganization meeting held last week.

Replacing Attorney Larry Hartman and long-time park superintendent Alfred Deane Crawford are Attorney Paul H. Lauber and Robert Wigfall.

Lauber is a member of the Granite City law firm of Chapman and Carlson. He was earlier appointed superintendent of the park district's $200,000 water slide and park improvement bond issue.

Wigfall is a member of the Venice Park Board of Commissioners.

Other new employees are Maurice Williams (not related to President Williams), hired as day foreman, and Helen Bishop appointment as one of two recreation directors.

Williams replaces Charles Rancher, and Mrs. Bishop takes the position held by Silver Franklin.

Charles Collins will continue his term as the district's other recreation director for the 1983-84 year.

A new administration just wants new employees, Williams commented this morning on the new appointments. "I think we've got some good people, people who will do a good job."

The appointments will be for one year, but Williams said, if the new employees do not result in an improved park district, they will be replaced before that length of time. He is confident, however, the new employees will be an asset to the district.

James Harrell was appointed to a newly-created accounting position.

Park police will be hired at an unspecified time. In addition to the re-election of Williams as president, Calvin Ratliff was elected vice president of the board of commissioners.

Committee appointments were: Grounds and Maintenance, Eric Hogan and Joan Silas; Recreation, Barbara Harrell and Ratliff; Personnel, Mrs. Harrell and Hogan; Park Police, Mrs. Silas and Ratliff, and Finance, Mrs. Silas and Mrs. Harrell.

In other business, Henry Gabriel was hired as architect for the water slide project.

The commissioners decided they will prepare an application for park funding to be submitted to the city. The request will be for improvements to bleachers, fencing and landscaping.

Little league registration is being conducted this week at the Venice Recreation Center, 1923 Broadway.

Continue sewer bill cost study

The Madison County Sewer Service Area No. 1 committee last week agreed to continue studying problems at the Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park.

Truck burglary investigation

A Madison man, 19, was being held Sunday by Granite City police for investigation of a truck burglary occurring about 2:35 a.m. Sunday at the rear of 1746 State St.

Police were advised by a Granite City Steel security officer that he found a bed sheet and assorted hand tools laying in the middle of 18th Street, near the rear of 1746 State.

A Granite City officer also reported seeing someone riding a bicycle south on 18th Street, near 14th Street, a few minutes earlier with the person appearing to have a couple of wrenches in his pocket.

A pickup order was broadcast and the man on the bicycle was stopped by Madison police and returned to 18th and State streets. A large quantity of tools allegedly were found in the truck possession, who reported having found the items, reports said.

At that point, officers discovered a step-van with the passenger window broken and a bicycle tied to the metal near the window.

The owner of the vehicle, William Hughes, 1746 State St., was contacted. Tool boxes inside the truck-van had been opened.

A shirt found outside the van was wrapped around several hand tools. The sheet found in the roadway also came from the step-van, it was learned.

A total of 98 tools, including various size wrenches, screwdrivers, nut drivers, ratchets and socket sets, had been in the vehicle.

Suspect women in cash theft

Two young women in a red and white Monte Carlo may have been responsible for stealing $200 from a Granite City man who was a patron at "Kash" Lounge, 325 N. Nameoki Road, last week.

The man had been talking to the women at the bar and loaned one woman his jacket to go out to her car. He accompanied her and retrieved the jacket outdoors, noticing that the woman's wallet was missing, he told police. He made the woman go back into the lounge and, then returned to the bar.

The woman borrowing his jacket was about 5 feet, 10 inches tall and of medium build, with long, medium blonde hair. Her companion was 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighed about 180 pounds and had short brown hair.

The same women may have been involved in an earlier incident in which an individual had money taken under similar circumstances at a Granite City tavern, the Press-Record learned.

CLIFFORD HAMILTON

Marine Hamilton completes basic

Marine Private Clifford O. Hamilton, 20, of Granite City is home on leave after completing basic training at Camp Pendleton in San Diego, Calif.

The serviceman will be returning to the California base May 21 to begin advanced individual training.

Hamilton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barnes, 2446 Hodges Ave., and the husband of the former Lucy Russell of Marion, Ill. The couple was married last September.

He attended Granite City High School South and was employed at the Great Western Motel in Marion, prior to enlisting in the U.S. Marine Corps Feb. 8.

Peat, Marwick will audit schools

Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. has been chosen to continue as the Granite City School district's auditor for the 1983-84 year.

Cost will be $22,500, compared to $20,700 in 1982-83. A breakdown of the $22,500 shows $15,350 for District Nine and special education Region 1 regular examinations, $4,500 for audits of federal programs and $2,750 for out-of-pocket expenses.

Finance Director Norman S. Owen said, "A new single audit for all federally-reimbursed programs will require more audit tests to be performed and reported."

"These programs include Public Law 874, Career Education, Vocational Education, Chapter I Compensation, Chapter I Equipment, Chapter I Equipment, Title IV Learning Assistance, and the incentive Grant, Public Law 94-142, Regular Lunch Program, Free and Reduced Lunch Program and any special projects."

Peat, Marwick, Mitchell also will serve as a consultant to the school system on data processing and program accounting at a cost not to exceed $1,000, or $20 an hour.

SABER opposes I-255 project

Local opponents to construction of a proposed 3.5 mile section of Interstate 255 have joined together to form a coalition named SABER (Save the American Bottoms Essential Resources).

Coalition members appealed to Governor Thompson at a recent town meeting in Belleville to consider alternatives to construction of this section of highway, which the coalition describes as "removing approximately 450 acres of prime farmland from production and encroaching upon the environmental resources of our vanishing wetlands."

Larry Firkus of the Madison County Water and Soil Conservation District questioned construction of the highway as violating the spirit of both the Agricultural Areas Conservation and Protection Act and the Farmland Preservation Act. Coalition member Maggie Sparks challenged IDOT's preliminary impact study, prepared in anticipation of a Columbia-Waterloo airport, as no longer being valid.

The governor invited opponents of the highway to meet with him and IDOT representatives in Springfield soon.

Spokesmen for SABER emphasized that the coalition contains a diversity of people opposed to this section of highway.

"Some opponents are farmers who see their livelihood threatened. Others are concerned in preserving the wetlands as a natural resource and a means of flood control," a news release explains.

"Others are concerned that this is a waste of federal and state monies on an unnecessary highway which is little better than an IDOT boondoggle. Still others do not think future planning of business and industrial development in the area should be tied to a misplaced highway," the release notes.

Concerned citizens may write SABER, Post Office Box 452, Granite City, Ill. 62040, or phone Jim Sparks in Collinsville at 341-0433.

Talk slated on use of credit

What is the difference between charge and credit cards? Why should I establish credit if I do not need it? If I have a co-signer on my loan, do I still have credit? When should I use my credit card? Stephen Pollan will answer these questions and others Tuesday, May 17, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Professor of business at Marymount Manhattan College, he will speak at 8 p.m. in the Illinois Room of the University Center. The topic will be "Credit, Money and You." The program is free and open to the public.

Pollan will show audience members how to establish credit, get their first charge cards, start and maintain a good credit history, and secure a bank loan. He will also show how to control one's money matters and exercise one's legal rights.

Pollan is a graduate of City College of New York and Brooklyn Law School. He also attended the Harvard Graduate School of Business senior management program. He is co-author of "The Consumer's Credit Handbook" and author of "How to Borrow."

In McGuire Cup

MHC downs Ohio-South 2-1; Midwest semis set for June 4

CENTERVILLE, OHIO — Granite City's 1983 McGuire Cup team, Mexican Honorary Commission-Mendoza, managed two first half goals in quarter-final action Sunday to defeat the Ohio-South Elks 2-1 here. The quarter-final victory earns the Granite City squad a berth in semi-final action to be held in Bloomington, Ind. on June 4.

Granite City's Scott Vickers managed both MHC goals. The first, at the 20 minute mark, was assisted by Dave Paz, who was playing in his first game with the Granite City kickers. Paz, who attends Cleveland State University, passed the ball to an open Vickers who knocked it in for the score.

Vickers managed the second goal at the 35 minute mark. Sam Mendoza got the assist.

Play was difficult on the rain-soaked field in the first half. The Granite City defense, supported by Steve Tritschuh, Jim Kelahan and Matt Sheridan were excellent support for Rick Branding who made several excellent saves throughout the game, but especially in the second half.

Ohio-South penetrated Granite City's defense as Brian Kloeve pushed an unassisted shot past Branding for the Ohio club's only score.

Ohio kept the pressure on, however, in the second half, keeping Granite City on defense. MHC kept its poise to hold on for the win.

"They were a very strong team," said MHC Coach Ruben Mendoza. "A big team, they were probably the best team we've played thus far."

Mendoza praised his defense and in particular Branding. "Rick did an excellent job for us. We couldn't have asked for more."

As winners in Sunday's quarter-final contest, the Granite City squad will face either Ohio-North, Wisconsin or Michigan in the June 4 semi-final contest.

The following day, Sunday, June 5, has been slated as the Midwest Regional championship. That, too, will be played in Bloomington.

The winner of the Midwest Regional, which is one of four regions nationwide, will play for the national championship on Saturday, June 18, in Omaha, Neb.

In Class AA Track Meet

Lincoln wins; South fifth

Warriors, Steelerettes each qualify one

BELLEVILLE — East St. Louis Lincoln, the defending Class AA girls' track state champions, won the IHSA Class AA District Track Meet at Belleville East Saturday.

Lincoln scored 91 points to win the team title while rival East St. Louis Senior took second with 63 points. Edwardsville was third with 25 points, and Belleville East was fourth with 16 points.

Granite City South, Collinsville and Alton tied for fifth with nine points. Granite City North tied Belleville West for eighth place with eight points.

Both North and South qualified one girl for the state finals this Friday and Saturday at Eastern Illinois University at Charleston. North's Debbie Brandt took second in the discus with a 115-10 effort, and South's Lora Wiser was second in the 3200 meters with a 11:24.5 run. (See related story).

Wiser also finished fourth in the 1600 meters with 5:22.9. Collinsville's Pam Quarengli, who concentrated on only one event at the districts, won with 5:02.1.

South's Michelle Shoemaker was fourth in the 3200 meters with 12:10.2, and Lisa Wiser, Lora's twin sister, was fifth in the 400 meters with 1:01.3. North's Paula Rozyczki missed qualifying for state in the 200 meter hurdles by .8 second as she finished fifth in the with 39.6 seconds. The other four girls who placed, including Edwardsville's Mary Kay Hyten, all qualified for state.

"I wanted Paula to concentrate on only one race," North Coach Harry Lang said. "She really worked hard to improve her approaches to the hurdles. Eight-tenths of a second isn't that much."

North's 800 relay team, Tracie Rose, Emily McWhorter, Rozyczki and Rachel Coleman, was fourth with 1:53.0, and the North 400 relay team, Rose, McWhorter, Coleman and Donna Broyles, was fifth with 53.0 seconds.

Lincoln's Toni Wallace and East St. Louis's Felicia Curry and Veronica Gooch were the only double winners in the meet. Wallace won both the shot put and the discus. Curry won both the 100 hurdles and the long jump, and Gooch won both the 200 and 400 meter dashes.

District records in nine of the 16 events were tied or broken in the meet. Gooch broke records in both of her events.

Preliminaries and semifinals in track and field events begin Friday at 9 a.m. Finals in the events begin at 11 a.m. Saturday. All events will be held on O'Brien Field on the EIU campus.

In Class A Track Meet

Madison qualifies seven

JACKSONVILLE — The Madison High School girls' track team, small in numbers but big in talent, made history Saturday as they won their first district track meet ever, the Greenfield District.

The meet was originally scheduled for Friday in Greenfield, but because of inclement weather it was moved to the all-weather track on the campus of Illinois College on Saturday.

The postponement and Saturday's drizzling rain, however, didn't hinder the top-seeded Trojanettes from their appointed rendezvous with victory.

The Trojanettes, by virtue of their six first place victories and one second, qualified seven for this weekend's state track meet at O'Brien Field at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston. It was the 12 Trojanettes' finest hour on the track to date.

"I'm ecstatic," said Madison Coach Luvenia Long. "Especially since we've qualified athletes in seven events. I'm still getting over the shock," Long said.

The Trojanettes managed 45 team points for first place, outdistancing second place Carlinville by 10 points, and third place Ellettsville by 15 points.

Madison flexed its muscle in the speed events, picking up first place victories in each of the relays, both hurdling events and second in the 100 meter dash.

In the 400 meter relay, Trojanettes Rose Clay, Glenette Rhodes, Jowanna Dillon and Jerriann Ware teamed for the first place finish in 31.9, just three-tenths of a second off the Madison High record for the event.

In the 800 meter medley relay, Clay, Rhodes, Jerriann Ware and Dorothy Noblin teamed to win the event in 1:57.5. Clay and Rhodes ran their respective 100 meters of the medley in 12.6 and 13.3 respectively, while Jerriann Ware ran the 200 meters in 26.2 and Noblin ran the 400 meters in 65.4.

In the 1600 meter relay, the Trojanettes outdistanced competitors, winning the event in 1:51.3. Madison's split times were: Rhodes 28.4; Dillon 28.0; ReCina Banks 27.5; and Jerriann Ware 27.4.

In the 1600 meter relay, Madison's Noblin, Banks, Linda Scott and Antoinette Compton teamed to secure a first place victory with a time of 4:20.3. Although the Trojanettes' time is 15 seconds off the state qualifying time of 4:05.5, Madison still earns a berth to the state final by virtue of its first place finish.

In both hurdling events, the 100 meters and 200 meters, East proved she still ranks among the best in the state by winning both events. In the 100 meters, Banks posted a time of 15.9 for the victory.

The victory in the 200 meters was particularly pleasant for the leggy Banks.

In the 200 meters, Banks defeated Columbia's Cindy Stechmesser, last year's state champion in the event. Banks posted a time of 29.9, three-tenths of a second in front of Stechmesser.

"ReCina's doing everything right now," Long said. "We've worked on her take off (from the starting blocks), and she's just about got it perfected. It was her start that gave her trouble last year."

Madison picked up its seventh qualifying event in the 100 meter dash as Rhodes sprinted to a second place finish with a time of 13.0. Madison assistant coach Gene Briggs said Rhodes, the team's top sprinter, was most affected by Saturday's inclement weather.

Steelers' Brandt, Warriors' Wiser statebound

By ROGER KRAMER of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — Debbie Brandt and Lora Wiser, who will be Granite City's only representatives at the IHSA Girls' Track State Finals, needed a little bit of help to make the finals.

Brandt, a sophomore at Granite City North, needed the help of Mother Nature to make the finals in the discus. When the first flight of the discus was run Friday under sunshine, Brandt threw the discus 115-10 to take second place.

A hard rain hit the Belleville East track Friday, postponing the meet until Saturday morning. Wiser, Granite City South's best distance runner, had to wait until Saturday to gain her reward.

Wiser got help from her opponents in the 3200 meters. The freshman runner didn't have to push hard to win most of her races, but she did 15 seconds off her previous fastest time of the season to finish second with 11:24.5.

Both girls will be begin state final competition Friday at O'Brien Field at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston. Preliminaries and state finals will begin at 9 a.m. Finals will be held Saturday beginning at 11 a.m.

At the beginning of the season, Brandt was more unlikely than Wiser to make the finals. She was starting the season with throws of 90-95 feet. Her chances of making state weren't very good.

"No, I really didn't think I was going to make it this year at all," Brandt said.

At 135 pounds, Brandt is small by weight event standards. People like East St. Louis Lincoln's Toni Wallace and Edwardsville's Theresa Johnson, both being much larger (160 pounds and more) and stronger than her, could throw it 110-135 feet by simply reversing and throwing.

For Brandt to throw with the big girls, she had to develop her throwing technique. She learned from North weight coach Larry Curry to bring her arm up when she throws and how to gain more momentum with speed.

At the East St. Louis Relays, Brandt threw over 100 feet for the first time. After that, she began to consistently throw over 110 feet. She knew she was a contender after that.

For Brandt to be at her best, the conditions must be dry. Her type of throwing requires good traction so she can build up speed and momentum. For instance, in the finals of the discus Saturday, she had throws under 95 feet because she was unable to build up momentum.

One thing she was able to do was defeat Johnson, who was her biggest rival during the season. Johnson defeated her in the Gateway East Conference.

The Stegemeyers: Friends at home but foes on the field

Being on opposite sides doesn't make the Stegemeyers enemies

By STEVE WHITWORTH
of the Press-Record

Due to the closing of Granite City North High School at the end of this school year, the traditional rivalry between North and Granite City South will be coming to an end. Another tradition that will end is the rivalry in the Stegemeyer family of Granite City.

Bob Stegemeyer has been head coach of the Steeler baseball team since North opened in 1973. But, his two boys, Robert T. and Tom, have played ball for South during those years.

"It's ironic, because my daughter, Lisa, started at South 10 years ago at the same time that I went to work for North," Coach Stegemeyer said. "Now, the year after Tom graduates, I'm going back."

Stegemeyer taught and coached at Granite City High School before it was divided into two schools and now he will be a part of their reunification. In the meantime, his Steeler teams have competed against Warriors squads featuring his sons.

This year, the Stealers are 4-0 against their cross-town rivals, and as senior first baseman Tom Stegemeyer of the Warriors said, "I wish we could have won one or two of those games . . . or four."

The coach was in the position of favoring his team over his son when North played South. "I like for us to get him out, especially when he was up with men on base," Bob said. "When he bats, I'm a little more interested than I am in our other opponents. I like to see him do well, if it doesn't hurt us."

Betty Stegemeyer, Bob's wife and Tom's mother, has also had to contend with her conflicting loyalties. "For a long time, I didn't go to the games because it caused a lot of tension," she said. "Now I go and just to root for my own kids and try not to let on which team I'm pulling for the rest of the time. I just sit there like a mummy."

Betty said that being on opposing sides had caused very little trouble between Bob and his sons. "When Lisa was a cheerleader for South, she would write Bob little notes at the dinner table after North-South games, saying, 'At least we didn't cheat,' or things like that."

"But, with the two boys, there was never any problem. They all just came home and discussed the game and that was it."

Bob explained, "I've been through four seasons of coaching against my sons. We talk about the games, but we don't razz each other. Neither of my boys or I have rubbed it in when we've won. I guess it's kept sanity around the house."

Unfortunately, some people have not always been so understanding. Betty said, "It might be easier if they were on the same side. You can't really get into the game, because you don't want to root too hard for either side. I sat on one team's side once and somebody told me I was a traitor."

"She's handled it well by keeping her mouth shut," Bob said.

"Which is hard for me," Betty added with a laugh.

Her son, Bob, once kicked an important field goal for the Warriors in a North-South football game. When a reporter asked him who his mother rooted for, he answered, "My mom is for North."

Betty said, "I used to just sit by myself at the games. Now, I sit with my friends or whoever I happen to see."

Coach Stegemeyer said he doesn't make a big deal about the rivalry in front of his players. "I try to keep the South games low-key," he said. "I try to approach it the same as any other game. The kids get keyed-up about it naturally. I don't build it up any more, because I don't want them to get too tense."

Tom had much the same view. "It's special when we play North, but Coach Modica (of the Warriors) usually keeps it low-key for us, too. It's a conference game, though, and conference games are the ones we always get up for."

Tom will be graduating this month and he plans to attend Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this fall. He will probably major in business education. "I wouldn't mind going away to school somewhere, but I don't feel like I'm ready yet," he said.

His father, who grew up and attended high school in Wood River, received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Rice University (in Houston) in 1956.

After graduation, Bob played two years of minor league baseball. He played for Charleston (W.Va.) of the American Association and San Jose (Calif.) of the California State League. After a two-year stint in the Army, he finished his professional career with New Orleans of the Southern Association.

Bob played with some athletes who later achieved major league stardom, such as Earl Battey, Luke Easter and former Cardinal first baseman Bill White. "In fact, we still correspond with Bill every year," Bob said.

His manager at Charleston was Danny Murtaugh, who went on to win the World Series as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. "I was instrumental in getting Danny Murtaugh fired at Charleston," Stegemeyer said with a laugh. "It was because of the way I played . . . badly."

When he was released by New Orleans, Stegemeyer came back to Granite City and was hired to teach elementary P.E. in the fall of 1959.

"I've been here ever since," he said.

He has taught in Granite City at the elementary, the junior high and the high school levels. He went to Granite High in 1956 and taught P.E. and driver's education. He coached football and baseball at the school until North opened in 1973. He then became head baseball coach of the Stealers.

"I'm the best head baseball coach North ever had, by default," Stegemeyer said. With the closing of the school, he will be the only head baseball coach the Stealers ever had.

"I hate to see it close," he said. "A lot of my coaching friends won't be rehired. I'll miss them. I feel we've had a good school at North."

"Our three kids went through South while I was at North and I never was in the same building. They're probably glad about that."

Tom said, "The only good thing about the schools getting back together, as far as I'm concerned, is that I'm graduating. I'm out and I don't have to worry about it."

Betty reflected on the days of the rivalry that pitted members of her family against each other. "There's been a lot of washing uniforms at midnight. I always tried to fix something for dinner that they could heat up when they got home."

"Now, it's almost over and it will probably be boring around here. It will be kind of sad, but all good things come to an end."

Schrader wins Tri-City's winged outlaw sprints

By JOE SENTER
for the Press-Record

Kenny Schrader from Fenton, Mo., was the big money winner at the Tri-City Speedway in Granite City, Wednesday in the Winged Outlaw Sprint cars.

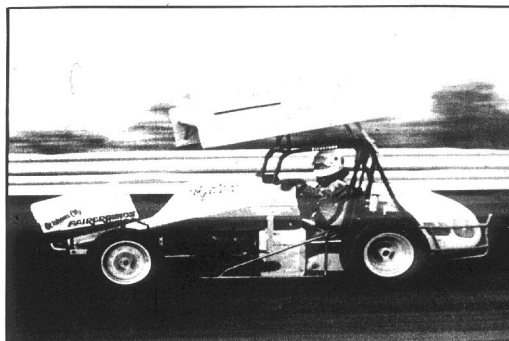

Last weekend's activities, Friday's regular feature and Saturday's Skool Dash Midgits were canceled because of rain. So far, the Skool Dash has not been rescheduled.

Schrader, taking an evening off from his Indy 500 Practice Runs, flew in for the First Outlaw Sprint Car Special of the 1983 season, and took control of the McMillan Sprinter (formerly the Joe Crawford-Marler Music Car) to win the 25-lap feature event. He grabbed the lead from his pole position start on the third lap from Randy Standridge, when Standridge went out with mechanical problems.

Rick Hood from Memphis, Tenn., challenged Schrader, coming from his eighth starting place, but later dropped back. It was a good race with constant battles for placement. Among those was Tod Bishop of Harrisburg and Randy Smith of Norwalk, Iowa.

Bishop finished second and Smith in third in the hazard free race.

Pat McKeenhan and Randy Smith took the heat races. The Highland Midwest Auto Racing Association Modified Feature was rained out. Heat winners were Denny Seller and Bret Weil. The next Outlaw Sprint Car and Highlands Modifieds event will be held on Wednesday night June 22.

The "Busch Beer" sponsored Outlaw Late Model Stock Cars will be racing at Tri-City Speedway this Thursday night May 19th.

These are the late model stock cars that run in open competition and many of these cars are as much as $30,000 each.

There will be cars and drivers from many states on hand, each trying to win a part of the large purse. Gates open west 5 p.m. Racing begins at 8 p.m.

Big sixth inning lifts North past Edwardsville

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Pitching. "It's either good or bad. It's seldom mediocre."

Last Thursday, for Edwardsville's softball team, pitching was good and then it went disastrously bad as the Tigers dropped a 22-12 six-inning Gateway East Conference game to Granite City North Steelerettes.

Trailing 12-9 going into its half of the sixth inning, North put together a 13-run sixth and an end to the contest and the Tigers by virtue of the 10-run rule.

In brief, while North's Monica Fanning was able to hold her own against the Tiger offense, Edwardsville's pitching staff could not.

Starting Tiger pitcher Jacques Scherff was tagged for three fifth-inning hits which led to a four-run Steeler inning.

Assessing the Steelerette fifth inning, Tiger Coach Kay Hyten pulled Scherff after the inning and replaced her with righthander Christy Bland. Scherff's offerings were accurate for the first five innings, it's just that the Steelerettes began to hit. Bland, on the other hand, had a quick release, but her inability to get the ball over the plate eventually did the Tigers in.

In the Steelerette sixth, Bland walked eight consecutive batters, giving the Steelerettes four runs and a 13-12 lead before Lisa Lilley reached on a fielder's choice, scoring two more runs.

In all, the Tigers gave up 17 walks, 10 of those were issued by Bland, while Fanning yielded just seven passes.

Leading 15-12, North's Trish Atkinson, batting for the second time in the sixth inning, reached on an error by Edwardsville's shortstop Mickey Vaden to load the bases again. Then, Bland walked Cindy Minner and Jill Wertheis to widen the Steelerette lead, 17-12.

After Minner and Wertheis reached, North's third baseman, Michelle Morgan, grounded to Edwardsville's Vaden who threw home in time to catch Atkinson in time for the force out.

Steelerette freshman shortstop, Leigh Ann Fanning, who has proved she can play as well as any of the upperclassmen, singled to centerfield to improve the Steelerette standing 20-12.

Leigh Ann's sister, Monica, loaded the bases again when she reached on an error by the Tiger's second baseman Angie Stokes.

Michelle Loftus, North's lead off batter, then grounded out to third base for North's second out of the inning, but her efforts still enabled Morgan to reach home, giving the Steelerettes a 21-12 lead.

The Steelerettes picked up its 22nd and final run of the evening as Lilley reached on a walk forcing in Leigh Ann Fanning from third.

Edwardsville managed to get the final Steelerette out as Stephanie Gores picked up Minner's grounder at first base to step on the bag for the unassisted put out.

Despite the Tigers' dreadful finish, Edwardsville dominated the middle innings.

After falling behind 2-3 after the first inning, the Tigers put together a six-run second inning to take a lead they didn't relinquish until the sixth inning.

Both teams managed eight hits. For Granite City, Leigh Ann Fanning was four for four with a walk, Morgan was two for four and Michelle Loftus was two for five.

According to Steeler Coach Gus Lignoul, Leigh Ann Fanning's performance is nothing out of the ordinary. "Leigh Ann's performance doesn't surprise me that much. She's been playing well all year. She has the ability and she seems to always know where to go with the ball," Lignoul said.

And as for the Tigers' downfall, Lignoul said it was something he and his team have known in the past. "Have I ever seen a game where there have been so many walks given up? Sure, we've done it before. This time it was their turn," Lignoul concluded.

The victory boosts the Steelerette record to 2-7 while Edwardsville's drops to 12-6.

The Steelerettes will host this area's regional softball tournament on May 21. Among the teams competing in the 17-team regional are South, Madison, Metro-East and Collinsville.

Frangoulis, Davis to GCC

Two more Granite City high school wrestlers have shown intent to attend Granite City College in its first year, according to GCC wrestling coach Jim O'Dell.

Granite City North's 98-pounder, Colin Davis, and South's 167-pounder, Jai Frangoulis, are the two most recent Granite City grapplers to show intent to represent the Stars on the mats this winter.

"We're extremely happy to have both of these young men wrestling for us,"

O'Dell said. "They have both proven they are extra ordinary wrestlers and I'm looking forward to coaching them this year."

O'Dell said the Granite City Center plans a wrestling camp in late July for grapplers elementary through high school juniors. High school seniors are not eligible for a college wrestling camp according to NCAA guidelines.

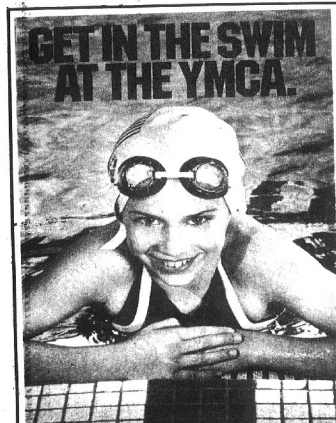

GCC opens its season Nov. 11 against Meramec Junior College.

Handicapped fare well in Olympic competition

O+A*T+H Inc. (Organization for Advancement of the Handicapped) and Tri-City Area Association for Retarded Citizens' Special Olympics teams have won honors in the Illinois Special Olympics Bowling meet.

The meet was held at St. Clair Bowl in Belleville on April 10th.

From O+A*T+H Inc. the first place winners were Frank Patton, Donna McCoy, Joe Werner, Marjorie Shambro, Nancy Thomason and Dewey Mays.

Second place winners were Robert Head and Pete Vasquez.

Third place winners were Larry Kynion and Frances Thomson. Karen Green Dorset placed fifth.

From Tri-City Area Association, the first place winners were Jerry Kulesza, nesota, were turned back by the Cougars' tall (6'-6") righthander, Ted Smith, by a 2-1 score.

The two clubs will battle it out today starting at noon for the championship and the right to represent the region at Riverside, Calif., next Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, for the national crown.

It was a cliff hanger in both games. And it was the first time that SIUE has ever defeated Northwest Missouri State in three tries in baseball. The victory over Mankato State was the first for the Cougars, but it was the two schools' first meeting.

Kent Taylor looked almost unbeatable for eight and two thirds innings, but weakened and allowed one run. The tall Fairfield, Ill., senior only fanned two Northwest batters, but he scattered six hits and walked only one batter.

In Smith's masterpiece against Mankato State, the Teutopolis, Ill., senior probably worked the best game of his four-year college career at SIUE. He gave up seven hits, but whiffed five Bearcats, mostly in crucial situations.

Hitting star for the Cougars in the second game was Tim Gamble, who went two for four. But, his thrilling diving catch of a sinking Bearcat drive in the top of the sixth was by far the tournament's best fielding gem.

It was Gamble's first hit of the second game which drove in the Cougars' winning run. However, he could not have been the "goat" of the tournament when he either misjudged Mankato's designated hitter's double in the top of the ninth, a blow which led to the loser's first and only run. But, since the play took place around 7 p.m., with the sun blinding the rightfielder (Gamble's position), he probably wouldn't have been blamed too much.

Coaching the teams were Wayne Johnson of O+A*T+H Inc. and Kay Hahne of Tri-City Area Association.

Seek end to abuses of charitable auto plates

Legislation supported by Secretary of State Jim Edgar to abolish special license plates for automobiles owned by charitable and religious organizations should be acted upon in the Illinois House this week.

"Vehicle owners won't want to pay $48 a year and see other large cars drive by with charitable vehicle plates costing $8 for two years," Edgar said.

A total of 16,385 vehicles are currently displaying "CV" plates, and 4,307 charitable bus plates have been purchased for 1983. Edgar said his office's records show there are 527 Cadillacs, 147 Lincolns, 18 Mercedes-Benz and one Rolls Royce displaying "CV" plates.

State Rep. Jack Davis (R-New Lenox) will seek to have legislation amended (HB 1660) to restrict use of charitable vehicle license plates to buses and trucks only.

To qualify for charitable plates, organizations may be required to submit signed affidavits attesting to their religious or charitable status. They also may be required to provide proof that they qualify for the Internal Revenue Service's non-profit status. To qualify, such organizations must have received at least $5,000 in contributions during the last year.

"Even though legislation was enacted last year to make it more difficult to obtain 'CV' plates, there are still too many Cadillacs, Lincolns and Mercedes-Benz displaying charitable vehicle plates," Edgar said.

"The 'CV' law was passed with good intentions. But unfortunately, it has been nearly impossible to end the abuses. I also believe that a legitimate religious or charitable concern can afford to pay $30 for plates."

"The concern about charitable plate abuse is especially strong this year in light of proposals to increase standard registration fees to $48 for passenger vehicles."

"It's a matter of fairness. We have received numerous complaints about charitable vehicle plates from those asking why they have to pay the higher fee when hundreds of others don't have to?" Edgar concluded.

Lauck president of state collectors' association

Richard Lauck, president of AAA Credit Service, Inc., in Granite City, was installed this month as president of the Illinois Collectors' Association. He was installed during the annual convention in Chicago.

With the recession in full swing, it might seem that the credit collection industry would be expecting a windfall. If it gives debtors any solace, things have not quite worked out that way, Lauck said.

In fact, consumers and businesses have found themselves overextended and agencies have been given more unpaid bills to collect than ever before. This is shown in a survey by the American Collectors Association, Minneapolis, Minn., the 2,800-member industry trade group to which Lauck belongs. More than $11.7 billion dollars of past due accounts have been referred to association members this year. This compares to $6.7 billion dollars referred the previous year, he noted.

While it is never easy to collect money, these economic times can hinder the process even more so. Previously, collectors could liquidate a $500 debt in two payments spread across several months, Lauck said. Today, he said, it could take four payments spread across six to 10 months — if he is able to collect at all. Collectors are more willing to work with debtors until they get back on their feet. The previous practice was to take out a loan to pay off the debt, however, with many people already overextended and out of work, this may not be an option, he said.

Chromalloy has loss for quarter

Chromalloy American Corporation has announced net sales and operating revenues were $209.5 million in the first quarter of 1983, down 18.4 percent from $257.4 million in first quarter 1982.

Chromalloy, which announced in March that it expected to incur a loss in the first quarter this year, reported a net loss for the three months ended March 31 of $4.5 million or a primary loss per share of 37 cents, compared with net earnings of $4.5 million or primary earnings per share of 23 cents in January-March 1982.

The firm owns the Precat Metals plant in Granite City. Chromalloy's results were announced by Norman E. Alexander, chairman and chief executive officer of the multi-industry company, and William E. Stevens, president and chief operating officer.

Stevens said, "Chromalloy realized savings in the first quarter from cost reduction programs established in mid-1982. Productivity at many units continued to improve. Sales, general and administrative costs were $8 million less than in the first quarter of 1982."

"The positive influence of these factors was obscured by the adverse impact of a continued decline in oil industry markets on businesses in our petroleum services segment and the tanker operations of the transportation segment.

"There was a difference of almost $14 million between operating earnings of those businesses in early 1982 and their operating losses in the first quarter of this year."

"Drilling rig activity, the principal market indicator for many of these companies, has dropped 50 percent since the oil boom came to an end a year ago. The demand for oil tanker movements is also down sharply as the oil industry strives to reduce excess petroleum inventories."

"Losses incurred in the first quarter by Chromalloy's discontinued operations were within the reserves established for that purpose.

"Four more of these companies have been sold this far in 1983 and most of the remaining businesses in this category are expected to be disposed of by the end of this year."

"Chromalloy expects to realize additional benefits from programs to control costs and working capital. Continued emphasis on these programs will provide an opportunity to improve results as the year progresses."

"Cash flow, which turned positive during 1982, will show further improvement in 1983. We also expect to benefit from lower interest rates and the winding down of the divestiture program."

DEBATE FINALISTS. Tami Tracy and Tim Streicher were semi-finalists at the National Forensic League's District Lincoln-Douglas Debate Tournament recently at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston. Streicher advanced to the final round where he lost on a 2-1 decision a student from Freeport High School. The winner will attend the national tournament this summer in Kansas City, Mo.

Summer swim program for the handicapped

The Tri-Chapter Chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct an instructional swimming program for the physically handicapped, scheduled to begin June 13 and continue through June 30.

Gwendy O'Guin, chapter director, said the overall purpose of the program is to teach the physically handicapped to swim, or swim better, and to use this medium to provide the participants with a freedom and mobility they are otherwise denied.

This type of opportunity also enhances the individual's physical and mental well-being, she explained. The Handicapped Swim Program is available free of charge to any individual in the Quad-City area who qualifies. Sessions will be conducted at a private swimming facility in Granite City. Registration is limited and participation is offered on a first-come, first-served basis, Mrs. O'Guin said. Recruiting also is underway for persons wishing to assist the handicapped during the program. Exceptional swimming ability is not necessary for those volunteers who offer their assistance, it was stressed. "Each year, we have volunteers from all walks of life — high school and college age young people, as well as grandparents and retirees," Joanne Higgins, program director, commented. The minimum age for volunteers is 15, but there is no maximum age, she added. In addition to the staff, qualified lifeguards, also volunteers, will be in constant attendance during the sessions, it was explained.

Persons wishing to take part in the Handicapped Swim Program, either as volunteers or participants, are being invited to contact the Red Cross office, 2100 Edison Ave., or call 452-7184 for further information.

BURGLARS RANSACK GCMOBILE HOME

Burglars forced open a rear door at the mobile home of Karen Poole, 41 Parktowne West, ransacked the interior and stole several items, last week. Listed as missing were an instant camera, jewelry box, portable radio, three pairs of earrings, pendant, watch, a flower and wooden wall decoration and a 10-year stickpin with two rubies and a diamond from Mercantile Bank, St. Louis.

Computer seminars

The Center for Management Studies in the SUE School of Business will offer three computer training seminars in St. Louis during the first two weeks of June. The seminars will be held at Henry VIII Inn and Lodge on North Lindbergh Blvd. A three-day seminar on "How to Use Your Personal Business Computer: Programming in BASIC" is scheduled June 5-8. Sessions have been planned for people with little or no prior background in computer technology. A one-day seminar introducing people to Wordstar and the personal computer has been planned for June 9. With Wordstar, computer users may edit, erase, reset margin, personalize letters, move paragraphs, and take the drudgery out of repetitive typing jobs.

A course introducing the computer user to VisiCalc will be offered June 10. Participants will have the opportunity to analyze and solve problems using the VisiCalc program. The seminars will meet from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. each day, according to James F. Miller Jr., director of the Center for Management Studies, 692-2668.

5,850 graduate at Carbondale

A record number of students graduated in Southern Illinois University at Carbondale commencement exercises Saturday.

About 5,850 undergraduate and graduate students applied for degrees, the largest number of candidates ever, according to SIUC's Office of Admissions and Records. Roland R.E. Keim, associate director of admissions and records, stressed that the figure is only a preliminary indicator and the final tabulation will not occur until five or six weeks after commencement. The largest graduating class to date was the May 1980 class of 4,340.

The possible record figure this year reflects, in large part, an increase in the number of students graduating from the School of Technical Careers' basic, associate and off-campus military programs, Keim said.

To accommodate the class of 1983, commencement exercises were divided into three ceremonies.

Traffic accident injures children

Teresa Falk, 13, and Erica Williamson, 1-year-old, both of 2201 Lee Ave., who were passengers in a vehicle operated by Janet L. Williamson, 27, also of the Lee Avenue address, sustained injuries last week in a traffic accident on Nameoki Road at Clark Avenue.

According to reports, Mrs. Williamson's southbound auto and a car being driven north by Michael A. Nikonowicz, 21, of 2737 Iowa St., collided when the latter attempted to make a left turn into the Kroger store parking lot.

Nikonowicz was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way. Mrs. Williamson was cited for not having a valid registration.

ALLEN ENLISTS IN AIR FORCE

William DeWayne Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Allen, of 3124 Jill Ave., has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force, according to Technical Sergeant Tom Slater, Air Force representative at 3675 Nameoki Road.

Upon graduation from the Air Force's six-week basic military training, he will receive training in the aircraft armament systems field. He is a 1982 graduate of Granite City High School South.

Vernice Walker receives pin

During the Granite City Republican Women's Club's recent annual Mother-Daughter dinner at Bill Burns Cafeteria, membership and other awards were presented.

Chaplain Ruth Lucas opened the meeting with a prayer and Americanism chairman Louise Thompson led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Following dinner, president Janet Wilson conducted a short business meeting. She presented the club with a gold honor roll certificate, awarded by the state federation. The president also gave vice president Vernice Walter a NFRW pin for past service to the club.

The group voted to have a shower in June to collect cleaning supplies and paper items for the Alpha Center as a community relations project. Jeanette Krause will be the chairman of the project.

Eleanor Schulte, Edwardsville, chairman for the Madison County Republican Committee, shared some of the duties involved in working with Dr. Edward Ragdale, county chairman. She said work is done with precinct leaders, candidates are assisted with vital statistics, contact is maintained with 32 county newspapers, and the GOP is represented at public functions.

All those present were given a crocheted "lucky four-leaf clover" by the program chairman, Mrs. Walter, with a challenge to pin it up as a daily reminder that head, heart, hands and health must be used to keep a two-party system alive in the county, state and nation. Gladys Newman and Diane and Monica Rogers won the three-generation family award. Mrs. Newman was congratulated and pins and flowers were presented.

Other persons receiving mother-daughter awards included Anne Pare and Betty Duff, Faith and Marcie Holsinger, Verna Michel and "adopted daughter" Helen Stumpe. Faith Holsinger was honored as the youngest mother, Ruth Lucas as the oldest mother and Jennie Zinser, 91, as the oldest active member. Gayle Holsinger, Barbara Wodin of the Young Republicans and guest Bernice Johannek also were honored.

The group's June 7 meeting will feature a patriotic theme developed by Louise Thompson. The president and vice president will report on the county federation meeting and recent state conference.

Navy Mothers install 3 officers

The Quad-City Navy Mothers' Club 850 conducted a business meeting at the VFW hall last week. The meeting was called to order by Commander Nina Minsinger.

Three officers who were unable to be installed during ceremonies two weeks ago were given their oath of obligation during the meeting by past Commander Elizabeth Ramsey. The officers are Edna Miller, adjutant, Stella Miller, first matron of honor, and Georgina Teller, auditor.

An audit report was given by Edna Miller, Chaplain Verna Spurrer reported on illnesses. The mystery package was won by Nina Minsinger and a special prize was won by Della Rabb. The next meeting will be a May 26 social. The club also will take part in a memorial service at city hall, May 30.

Rollettes serve members buffet

The Rollettes served a buffet dinner to its members and guest, Juanita Ritchie. Those attending were Connie Tinsley, Edith Wolford, Kathleen Wolford, Joyce Waller and Evelyn Gordon.

After dinner, members played games. The next club meeting will be hosted by Judy Gregory.

Johnson PTA held last meeting

The Johnson School Parent Teacher Association gave presents to its executive board members at its final meeting. The school is closing permanently this year. Members presented school bags and cups to the retiring officers.

Johnson School's "Fun Day" is set for May 20 and Becky Say reported that parents have volunteered to assist with the event.

Principal Richard Brinkoff discussed the final distribution of school equipment that will be divided among other schools in the Granite City School District. The PTA file cabinet and "Fun Fair" games will be stored at Prather-Logan School. The games will be available for any schools that wish to use them.

Pizza and soft drinks were served to the guests and games were played. Present were Michelle Randall, Jennifer Valbert, Stacie Kennerly, Carl Ann Crawford, Kristi Holsinger, Maria Willard, Bess Boland and Dawn Fagala.

Both Misses Boland and Fagala were prize winners. After Miss Price opened her gifts, guests were given tokens to play the arcade machines.

The Galaxy Arcade gave Miss Price a T-shirt as a gift. Assisting at the party was Thelma Randall.

WORKSHOP ON NURSE ADMINISTRATION

Nursing administrators who are looking for ways to improve their budgeting, communication and staff allocation procedures may find a two-day workshop being offered in the St. Louis area beneficial. Reservations must be made immediately.

Sponsored by the Center for Management Studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the workshop will be held at Stan Musial and Biggie's Airport Hilton from May 23 to 24. The Inn is located at 10330 Natural Bridge in St. Louis County.

The workshop should be of value to nursing administrators, directors, supervisors and head nurses, as well as nurses who are interested in management positions.

Instructor for the two-day workshop will be Monica Caine, assistant hospital administrator at Montefiore Hospital in New York. Ms. Caine's extensive experience in health service administration includes numerous special projects involving budget development and analysis for nursing services, staffing methodology, departmental reorganization and pilot programs for unit-based educators and development coordinators for patient education.

Coursework will include an overview of financial management in the health care industry, the role of nursing administration in the budgetary process, management control, budget planning and preparation, cost containment strategies, health care reimbursement, staffing and evaluate methods.

The entire two-day session will be geared to the needs of the participants, according to James F. Miller, Jr., director of the SUE Center for Management Studies.

Additional information concerning the conference and other services offered by the University's Center for Management Studies may be obtained by calling 1-692-2668.

CONCERT FEATURES ORIGINAL PIECES

Original compositions by students and faculty members of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be featured in a concert, Thursday, May 19 at the University.

Hat parade highlights Sisterhood banquet

The Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church Sisterhood conducted its annual Mother-Daughter Banquet recently with 75 in attendance.

Rainbow colors were used in the decorations. Elsie Byrd made sunbonnet girl favors. Mums provided the centerpieces on the tables and rainbow-colored balloons completed the theme.

President Evelyn Thompson opened the banquet with an address and introduction of officers, including Mary Davis, vice president, and Millie Sherman, secretary.

Connie Kelly, wife of the Rev. Raymond Kelly, gave the table prayer. A musical program followed the banquet. Sandy Smith lead the group in the Sisterhood theme song, "In the Garden," with Pat Golden accompanying on piano.

A hat parade was one highlight of the evening. Hats from yesteryear were worn by participants. Mrs. Kelly, Debbie Rabey, Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Thompson, Lottie and Pauline Squires, Evelyn Hamilton, Mrs. Davis and Rosa and Maria Argueles. Prizes went to Rosa Argueles and Pauline Squires. Lottie Squires won a prize for oldest-style hat.

The musical program also featured a piano solo by Dana Kelly and singing by Louise Follito, accompanied on piano by Judy Donnelly. Leah Barnes and Cindy Gray both performed vocal solos and both were accompanied on piano and by Nancy Barnes, who also sang. Mrs. Thompson presented a reading and a violin solo.

The finale included the entire congregation singing "God Bless America."

The Sisterhood gave a Mother's Day gift to Connie Kelly. Special gifts were given by Dana Kelly, Leah Barnes, Donna Byrd, Molly Williams and Cindy Gray to Alma Davis, Emma Elmore, Fern SanSoucie and Leola Cobein.

Carol Davis and Lottie Squires won attendance prizes. Out-of-town guests were Sharon Watson and Martha Silvey.

ENLISTS IN THE U.S. AIR FORCE

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse (Wilma) Levart

Jesse Levarts mark 31 years of marriage

A family gathering and dinner Sunday observed the 31st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse W. Levart, 5121 Old Alton Road.

The couple was married May 15, 1952, in Pocahontas, Ark. They have resided in Granite City since that time.

Levart, a native of Bruno, Mo., is employed as a truck driver for IGA Foodliners. His wife, the former Wilma Hoover, was born in East St. Louis.

Both are members of the Full Gospel Baptist Church and are active in citizen's band radio clubs.

Attending the celebration were their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Henry (Linda) Brown of Granite City, Mr. and Mrs. Doug (Kathy) Malone and family of Germantown, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Rick (Sherry) Coble and family of Princeton, Ky.

A son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mike (Melody) Levart and family of Pontoon Beach; and son and daughter, Mark and Donna Levart, who are at home.

Following church services Sunday, a family dinner was served at Pantara's Restaurant and the remainder of the day was spent socially.

Auxiliary police applicants to be sought at GC Home Show

Granite City police will offer two special features at the Granite City Home Show, scheduled Friday, May 20, through Sunday, May 22, in the Wilson Park Ice Rink pavilion.

Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer said this week that prospective candidates for the Granite City Auxiliary Police will have only one opportunity this year to apply for membership and the time is during the Home Show.

Also tentatively planned for presentation at the show is a color video tape of the extensive damage caused by the May 1 tornado in Granite City. The tape was filmed by Police Sergeant Don Knight.

Assistant Police Chief Lt. Col. Robert Astorian and Detective Sergeant Kerry "Kip" Pomero provide the narration for the 20-minute tape, which includes aerial views from a helicopter of damage to the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, A. O. Smith Corp., and several Granite City neighborhoods, plus ground scenes, shot in several locations.

Chief Veizer said applications for the auxiliary police corps will be accepted at the Granite City Police Department booth during the three-day Home Show.

John Becker heads the auxiliary police unit, which has a 22-man force at the present time.

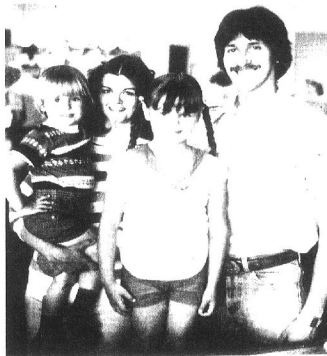

Auxiliary police candidates are required to take virtually the same training as the regular police department personnel, including a 24-hour police orientation program and firearms instruction, Chief Veizer said.

Those applying are given background checks, and requirements follow the same pattern as those seeking to join the regular force, he explained.

Persons wishing to apply for the auxiliary training must be 18 years of age or older, with discretionary evaluations applied to those between the ages of 18 and 21 years.

Auxiliary personnel assist in crowd control work and all types of emergencies, including severe weather conditions—such as the May 1 tornado and last year's snowstorm, the police executive explained.

Further information about the auxiliary police will be available at the GCPD booth, or may be obtained at police headquarters.

All-City Band Festival Saturday

Saturday, May 21, Granite City will hold its 11th annual all-city band festival at Memorial Gymnasium on the campus of Granite City High School South. Guest director for this year's festival will be Gary E. Smith, associate director of bands and director of the famous "Marching Illini" at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana.

The festival concert is to begin at 7:30 p.m. and will consist of three instrumental groups, an elementary festival band consisting of honor musicians from both elementary division bands in the district, a junior high school festival band consisting of honor musicians from the three junior high school bands in the district, and a senior high school festival band consisting of honor musicians from North and South High Schools. Tickets are being sold by all festival band students for 50-cents for students and 75-cents for adults. Tickets also may be purchased the evening of the concert at the door. Directors of the bands are Robert Dan Todoroff, North High School; Joe Owens, South High School; Mrs. Mary Ann Davis, Coldridge and Prather junior highs; Miss Vivian Raffaele, Grigsby Junior High; Mrs. Alicia J. Poplichak, Lake Division Elementary Band, and Miss Elsie Mayhath, Nameoki Division Elementary Band.

Cpl. Dunnivant in California exercise

Marine Lance Cpl. Benny G. Dunnivant, son of Blanche Young of 2110 14th St. and of Eugene Dunnivant of 1429 Sixth St., Madison, participated in exercise "Kernel Blitz 83" on the coast of Southern California.

He is a member of the 5th Marine Amphibious Brigade, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Kernel Blitz was a nine-day U.S. Navy Third Fleet training exercise involving more than 7,000 Marines and sailors, 10 ships and 40 aircraft. The exercise tested the capability of the Navy and Marine Corps to evacuate American citizens from a hostile area and to project combat power shore.

The Navy conducted training in the embankment of Marines. Live firing was conducted at the San Clemente Island range and an embassy evacuation exercise took place at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Both helicopter and surface assault forces were involved in an amphibious landing, which included simulated aircraft bombing runs and artillery fire.

Today is National Safety Belt Day

The Illinois State Police is urging all highway travelers to "buckle up" today. Every occupant of a vehicle should wear his seat belts, especially on National Safety Belt Day, which is today.

In Illinois, there is a traffic accident reported every 72 seconds. Occupants of vehicles can reduce their chances of sustaining serious injury by using a seat belt. Seat belts don't prevent a person from having an accident, but they can prevent or reduce injuries. Every vehicle accident has more than one collision. The first occurs when a vehicle strikes an object. The second occurs when the occupants inside are thrust forward. Seat belts protect from the second collision.

In the 1960's a law was passed requiring seat belt installation in all motor vehicles. But as the adage goes, "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." Seat belts must be used to be effective, a state police spokesman said.

Get into the habit starting May 16th on National Safety Belt Day. Buckle up before you drive.

News notes

A celebration starting today and ending Saturday at the James S. McDonnell USO, Lambert Airport, will mark Armed Forces Week. There will be special displays by each of the military services.

The Governor's Office of Consumer Services filed testimony last week on Illinois Power Company's approved and later suspended rate increase, opposing construction work in progress (CWIP) costs at the Clinton nuclear power plant. Alvin K. Grandys, GOCS director, said the plant has "an uncertain cost and a distant completion date. CWIP should be kept out of the rate base since regulated firms should not be insulated from the discipline of market forces and the consequences of managerial decisions."

Gov. James R. Thompson last week criticized the Illinois Senate Appropriations Committee for approving higher education funding totaling $215 million more than what the governor sought. He said the legislature "cannot have it both ways. It cannot approve university appropriations without cutting other vital programs or raising more revenue through tax increases. It is the height of hypocrisy."

Northbound lanes of Highway 111 over Interstate 64 are closed indefinitely for repair work. Lower bridge deck beams were damaged by a vehicle that was too tall.

Pending amendments to the federal Clean Air Act would damage the Illinois coal industry and potentially boost electric rates by 24 percent, according to the Illinois Coal Association and an Illinois Environmental Protection Agency report. Use of scrubbers and Western coal could cost consumers an added $200 million a year, it is being estimated.

Union officials say bus drivers' morale is low due to the Bi-State Transit System's implementation April 23 of its Feb. 28 contract offer. Wages are frozen until Feb. 28, 1985, and employees are to pay half the cost of any future rise in medical insurance costs. The Amalgamated Transit Union had agreed to work for another year under terms of the agreement that expired Feb. 28.

A fire badly damaged an unoccupied second-floor lecture room and spread fumes through most of the Peck Classroom Building at SIUE at 4 p.m. Friday. About 100 persons were evacuated and there were no injuries. The cause is being studied; no loss estimate has been made.

Most union workers will oppose President Reagan if he seeks re-election, Lloyd McBride, United Steelworkers of America president, predicted Friday in St. Louis. He assailed weak U.S. trade laws for adding to the steel industry's import woes.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Thursday filed suit in the Circuit Court against Gov. James R. Thompson and the Illinois Public Aid Department, asking for a review and increase in the rate the state pays for Medicaid patients. SEMC says after being notified it did not properly request a reimbursement rate review, and that the state confused corporate reorganization with new construction. Actual treatment costs far exceed reimbursements, it is contended.

Three young women were reunited with their 45-member Australian and New Zealand tour group Friday night at local campgrounds after being separated from the bus in the Laclede's Landing area. They did not know the state destination. St. Louis police contacted the tour group's headquarters in California and found where the visitors were spending the night.

State legislation would require those who lose civil damage lawsuits to pay interest on the amount awarded from the time the suit was filed, rather than from the date of a court decision. The rate would be one percentage point above what Federal Reserve charges banks.

Warm areas may develop in the Madison County Courthouse this summer as the county tries to keep kilowatt-hour electric usage below $15,000. Honeywell Corp. energy management system that is to be installed by June 1, Illinois Power's new method of computing rate levels calls for permanent, 50 percent higher rates once a particular volume is exceeded. Sensors being placed around the courthouse will monitor temperatures and power use.

Experiences with a Rotary group study exchange team visiting East Africa last summer were related to Granite City Rotarians last week by Alan Cridger, a Granite City man who teaches at the Wydown Junior High School, Clayton. Young businessmen spent 45 days on the journey, traveling 25,000 miles. Donald VanHorn was program chairman.

Sales of existing homes have attained their highest level in more than two years, reaching a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.7 million units.

Band concert at Grigsby

The Grigsby Junior High School Band will host its spring concert Tuesday night at 8 p.m. Miss Vivian V. Raffaele is the conductor.

The band was awarded a first rating in statewide competition held in Mt. Vernon during April. The annual spring concert will be in the school gymnasium.

Bald, fat? State offers some advice

By W. L. KEMPINER
Director, Illinois Public Health Department

Health product advertisements have been investigated by the American Council on Science and Health. It found that ads which make fantastic claims usually are either misleading or fraudulent. Yet, mail orders for these products total as much as $150 million a year.

Some of these advertised products promise such things as effortless weight loss, wrinkle removal and an end to baldness.

Weight loss products included a sauna belt, a sauna suit, rubber pantyhose and a recipe for bread capable of producing dramatic weight loss.

The sauna belt turned out to be a fabric tube, about seven inches wide, with an inner layer of sponge rubber and an outer layer of nylon. It is to be worn around your middle and is guaranteed to reduce waist and stomach bulges in three days.

The sauna belts and sauna suits cannot get rid of body fat. You may have some weight loss due to perspiration or water loss, but that is only a temporary effect.

Losing body fat is the only way to lose weight on a long-term basis. And the only way to lose body fat is to reduce your intake of calories, or by exercising to increase the number of calories you burn up.

The sauna suit came with a sheet of exercise instructions and a pamphlet entitled, "The Adventure of Running."

Directions for using the suit emphasize the importance of doing something active while you're wearing it, and contain the statement that no permanent loss of inches or weight can be attained without a sensible, nutritionally balanced diet.

If you exercise enough, and stay on a sensible diet, you won't need the sauna suit and you will not have spent $12.99 needlessly.

The book that contains a cure for baldness cost $7.95. It claims that all other baldness remedies are worthless, and then proposes that vigorous rubbing of the scalp will reverse male baldness and cause new hair to grow.

In 1980, a special panel of the federal Food and Drug Administration reviewed the effectiveness of the various creams and ointments advertised for treatment of baldness in men. The panel found that all the solutions, for baldness are worthless.

As a result, mail-order ads for anti-baldness potions now must carry a notice that there are no known cures or effective treatments for male pattern baldness.

Then, there are the products that are supposed to stop the growth of hair. The Council found that they are just as ineffective as the various creams and lotions which claim to grow hair.

Also, among the items the Council ordered were some creams that claimed to lighten stretch marks. It was found that, except for different names and distributors, the products were identical. They contained the same ingredients — primarily vitamin E oil with a number of emollients. None of these products worked.

BURGLARY AT CLARK STATION

Quantities of charcoal, antifreeze, cleaning solvent and soft drinks were stolen in a burglary at the Clark Service Station, 20th Street and Madison Avenue, reported during the weekend.

Missing items, also including gas cans, brake fluid, deicer solvent and ice scrapers, were in a locked aluminum shed at the rear of the station. Two padlocks were cut to enter the shed and a gate lock also was cut to get behind the building, reports said.

3 WARRANTS SERVED

Acting on warrants last week, Granite City police booked Damon M. Horvath, 21, Rural Route One, on a 1982 traffic charge. Daniel R. Richardson, 23, of 2801 Cayuga St., on a 1983 charge of driving with a suspended license, and Steven F. Kraus, 29, of 2921 Indiana Ave., for an alleged 1983 violation of the city building inspection ordinance.

Sales tax declines as revenue source

Sales taxes, long one of the workhorses of state revenue, still generate more than a third of the state's taxes. But their impact on the general funds is declining, Comptroller Roland W. Burris has said.

Burris said sales taxes for fiscal year 1982 would have been 10.2 percent or $237 million higher except for the phased reductions in sales taxes on food, medicine, manufacturing machinery, farm equipment and gasoline.

The comptroller noted that two other factors — the deep recession in Illinois and increased use of sales tax revenue to aid transportation — have lessened the impact of sales taxes.

He also discussed inflation in the Chicago area. Though basic living costs have moderated somewhat, medical care and utility rates remain double-digit villains for Chicago area consumers, he said.

The state continues to limp toward possible cash flow problems in June. Revenues for the first nine months of the current fiscal year were $115 million less than income, and substantial deficits from previously deferred payments remain fiscal year losses.

Burris said many Illinoisans think of sales taxes as simply an over-the-counter levy on sales. It is actually a combination of taxes — retailers' occupation tax and use tax, and a wide assortment of local sales taxes.

All tax the gross receipts from sale or use of tangible property in Illinois. Blurring that picture is the fact that phased tax reductions have occurred as follows:

1. Sales taxes on food and drugs were reduced from 4 percent to three percent effective Jan. 1, 1980, and to 2 percent effective Jan. 1, 1981.

2. The exemption on manufacturing equipment sales was increased from 3 1/4 percent to 5 1/4 percent, effective Jan. 1, 1983, with a total phase-out at the beginning of calendar 1985. Graphic arts machinery will phase out on the same schedule.

3. Total exemption of the tax on farm machinery costing more than $1,000 became effective Sept. 1, 1982.

4. Additional exemptions or reduced rates were approved for golfation, pool control devices and farm chemicals.

The comptroller added: —The food and drug tax pact on sales tax revenues. In fiscal year 1982, $211 million or 89 percent of total tax relief stemmed from this reduction.

—From fiscal 1984 through fiscal 1989, the state sales tax was the number one revenue producer, generating 65 percent of total general funds from state tax sources.

Since fiscal 1972, following enactment of a state income tax, the income levy has become the state's primary source of tax revenues.

In the last decade, from fiscal 1973 through fiscal 1982, sales tax receipts increased by $1.141 billion or 96.6 percent from $1.181 billion in 1973 to $2.322 billion in 1982.

In contrast, income tax receipts increased by $1.615 billion to $2.966 billion in the same period, 2.3 times the 1973 level of $1.251 billion.

Public utility taxes now rank third in dollar value, tripling from $48 million in 1973 to $366 million in 1982.

What kind of retailer generates the most sales tax? Automotive outlets and filling stations generated 24.5 percent of the 1982 increases in collections with a gain of $266 million, more than double that of a decade ago, followed by miscellaneous retail-wholesale stores and general manufacturing.

Automotive outlets and gasoline stations not only were the top gainers but were firmly out in front with 22.8 percent of total sales tax collection in 1982.

Cook County pays the largest percentage of total sales taxes (43.8 percent in fiscal 1982), though the neighboring "collar counties" are growing rapidly with 16.4 percent of the total.

Downstate counties accounted for 34 percent of the 1982 total, with the balance — 5.8 percent — from out-of-state sales.

More and more sales tax funds have been diverted to aid transportation. Beginning in 1975, when $91 million was shifted to public transportation programs, the figure climbed to $139 million in 1982, with the bulk of these funds now transferred into the motor fuel tax fund and the road fund.

In summary, the sales tax structure has changed greatly in Illinois.

Cox's photos on display

A retrospective exhibition of the photographs of Charlie Cox, a senior citizen photographer and director of photographic services at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will be on display at the University Center Gallery now through May 27.

A historical documentary of the final years of the university, the photographs will focus on the period from 1959, when Cox first came to SIUE, until 1964, when construction was under way on the main campus. The show is entitled: "Charlie Cox: My View."

Scenes from the original Alton and East St. Louis residence centers stir memories of the early instructional operations of the university. Dress and hair styles, as well as pictures of the campus, capture the flavor of the time.

There are also shots of discussions involving planning and development, with pioneering administrators, faculty and staff shown in action. Political and community leaders in a variety of poses and situations are depicted.

Many of the scenes that Cox has preserved on film honor the roles played by students, maintenance workers and construction laborers. The lens on his camera moved freely during that period, and the pictures represent the photographer's functional and esthetic talents.

According to Cox, the selections for exhibit were made by David Huntley and Mike Mason of the Office of Cultural Arts and University Museums, which is sponsoring the exhibition as a special feature of the university's 25th anniversary celebration.

GIRL FALLS FROM CAR HOOD, INJURED
Famela Melton, 14, of 2223 Terminal Ave. was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center last week for treatment of cuts and bruises suffered when she fell off an auto and onto the pavement of Warren Avenue.

Dale Dotzauer, 16, of 2232 Wabash Ave., charged with reckless driving, had been eastbound on Wilson Avenue and was preparing to turn south onto Warren. The girl was riding on the hood of the car.

Volunteer award to Hospice director

Nina Millett, director of Hospice of Madison County and a resident of Marine, Ill., was recently selected as Social Worker of the Year by members of the Metro-East St. Louis District of the National Association of Social Work during ceremonies at the Western Club in Alton.

According to A. J. Becker, chairman of the selection committee, Nina was chosen in recognition of both her initiative in helping to start Hospice of Madison County and for her continuing involvement in the Hospice movement.

"As with many achievements," said Becker,

"Nina's have occurred not at one point in time, but instead reflect her continuous efforts and efforts that have significantly contributed to improving the quality of life in our community."

Nina received her undergraduate degree in sociology-social work from Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville in 1975 and her master's degree in social work from St. Louis University in 1978. She is also a registered nurse, having received her nursing degree in 1956 from Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor, Maine.

The author of several published manuscripts, Nina has received recognition for her article, "Hospice: Challenging Society's Approach To Death," and has also contributed several chapters on hospice care and philosophy for a number of recently-published books.

"When the time in a person's life is measured in months, weeks and days," said Becker, "its quality becomes a crucial question. There are social forces which work to diminish its importance, and there are people like Nina who recognize that even though a person's illness is beyond cure, the person is not beyond care or caring."

Rep. Wolf co-sponsors economic package

State Representative Sam W. Wolf, (D-Granite City) said he will join House Speaker Michael Madigan in sponsorship of Madigan's comprehensive package of legislation aimed at promoting economic recovery in Illinois.

"This package is unique in that it encourages a partnership between the private sector and state government to supply capital for new and growing businesses at reasonable rates," Wolf said. "Furthermore, it requires state cash, just the state's credit to market bonds for the program."

The package, which was developed by Speaker Michael J. Madigan with assistance from leading Illinois businessmen and bankers, calls for the consolidation of several financial agencies under one Illinois Development Finance Authority.

"Businessmen will be able to go to one single agency with their need for financing, thereby eliminating costly delays and confusion while trying to find the appropriate agency," Wolf said. "In a sense, we create one-stop financing for Illinois businesses."

The legislative package includes these key elements:

—Creation of an Industrial Revenue Bond Program that will be insured to guarantee no bond investor money will be lost.

—Establishment of an Illinois Venture Investment Fund to provide "seed capital" for research and development into new products and services.

—Expansion of the existing Illinois Industrial Development Authority to establish a Land Bank Program to aid Illinois cities in establishing industrial parks.

—Consolidation of the above programs and the Illinois Industrial Development Authority and the Illinois Environmental Facilities Finance Authority into the new Illinois Development Finance Authority.

"The major intent of this legislation is to increase the availability of low-interest, low-term financing for small and medium-sized firms with the potential for substantial new employment," Wolf said.

To qualify for financing, a businessman must first get approval from a participating financial institution. "We want to use the expertise of our bankers to ensure the success of this program," Wolf said.

Social Security number needed for job application

Young people in the Madison County area who are planning to apply for their first summer job and are members of the Social Security number should remember to apply for a number at least two weeks before they will need it, Oliver Holmes, Social Security district manager, reports.

"Most employers will not accept applications from people who do not have a Social Security number," said Holmes. "It is a good idea to get a number before looking for a job," Holmes said.

"To get a Social Security number, a person must provide proof of date of birth, identity, and U.S. citizenship or immigration status. Those 18 or over must apply in person."

"The best proof of date of birth and citizenship is a public or hospital birth record recorded before age five or a religious record of birth or baptism recorded before age five. Foreign born applicants should provide their immigration or naturalization documents as well.

"Identity can be established by such records as driver's license, state identity card, voter's registration, school record, school ID, report card, marriage record, work badge or building pass, labor or fraternal organization record, draft card or military ID."

"Newspaper birth announcement, adoption record, order for change of name, membership or confirmation record, welfare case record, medical or hospital record, vaccination certificate, insurance policy, day care or nursery school record, Boy or Girl Scout membership or any other document showing identifying data such as physical description, photograph or signature."

Applications for a Social Security number can be obtained at the East St. Louis Social Security office, 650 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis 62201. The telephone number is 274-4100 or toll free by dialing the operator and asking for Enterprise 1-555.

Girvies Davis wants to die

The Illinois Supreme Court Tuesday denied a request by convicted killer Girvies Davis that he be executed as scheduled May 24.

Davis, 25, had asked the state Supreme Court in a personally written appeal to permit the execution to take place.

Last month, lawyers for Davis got the Illinois Supreme Court to stay the execution to permit an appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

The death penalty originally set this month was on his conviction for the murder of Charles Beibel.

89, of Belleville, in 1978.

Davis also has received the death penalty in the 1979 murder of Esther Seymeyer of rural Maryville. His appeal in that case is being considered by the Illinois Supreme Court.

IN LOVING memory of my

h s b a n d , R A L P H

PAINTER, May 16, 1981.

Two years have passed since

God called you away, many years followed, I wanted you to stay. Not even death can break the link of our love, we still are one, though I am here and you are above.

There's so many memories,

all loving and nice, one day I will meet you in Paradise.

White, Margaret. 32 5 16

IN LOVING memory of

VERB THOMPSON, May 17,

1973. Sadly missed by

wife, Children, Grandchildren, Mother, Sisters,

Relatives and Friends.

32 5 16

IN MEMORY of my darling husband LOUIS G. PEACH,

who passed away six long years ago, May 8, 1977. I can still see your loving face and hear your sweet voice. I miss you so much. We know you have gone to a better place, where there is no more sickness or pain. Some day

we will meet again.

Sadly missed by wife

Grace and Family.

Busy summer is planned for I-255 construction

If all goes as planned, there will be considerable activity in the Interstate 255 area east of Granite City this summer.

A timetable for work on I-255 looks like this:

Bids will be sought in June for grading and construction for the Interstate 255 and U.S. Business 40 and Interstate 55-70 and the south half of I-255's intersection with I-55-70.

Dale Klorb, district engineer for the Illinois Department of Transportation, says the contract for this work also will include two retention basins planned as part of the interstate's drainage system. He said the grading project should begin sometime this summer.

A large quantity of the dirt used for grading will come out of the retention ponds, Klorb noted.

The city of Collinsville is interested in the retention ponds for a recreational area.

Klorb said another part of the project, relocation of Simpson Street at Fairmount Park Racetrack, should begin in June or early July. Part of Simpson will become the interstate's frontage road. A portion of the frontage road will be built on what is now part of the racetrack's parking lot.

South of U.S. 40, two new bridges will be built, one of them over Canteen Creek. One currently is under construction, Klorb said. The other is scheduled to be completed this summer.

Let's see this summer.

He said a June bid letting is scheduled for a triple box culvert north of I-55-70 at what is commonly referred to as Anyder's Ditch. The work should begin in late July or early August.

Demolition of the two former weigh stations on I-55-70 will take place this summer.

A recent five-cent increase in the federal gas tax accounts for all the activity planned this summer on I-255.

Although Klorb was reluctant to give an estimated completion date for the interchange, he said the target is to have all work from the Jefferson Barracks Bridge to I-55-70 under contract by 1985.

THE NEW HILTON hotel under construction in Eastport. The new hotel will be built on the fourth floor of the five-story building. Construction is well ahead of schedule, due to the mild winter, and the hotel should be opened in November. Granite City's B.C. Gitchie and former Granite City's Gary Fears are the developers. ## $4.47 million for local road projects on governor's desk

State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) has succeeded in securing passage of legislation to use federal funds for highway improvements in the 56th District.

The Senate voted 54-0 to send the $22 million Illinois Department of Transportation bill to the governor. The bill (House Bill 547) was approved by the House earlier.

Included in the bill are three Madison County projects totaling $4.47 million. About $3.25 million for land acquisition and construction for utility adjustments for Interstate 1-255 from Interstates 55-70 to Interstate 270.

Another $50,000 is for extension of the beltline at Melton Road in Alton. The money is earmarked for utility adjustments and building demolition.

"I am pleased that the Legislature was able to act swiftly in approving this supplemental funding bill," Vadalabene said. "The extra money became available through the increase of federal highway funds coming to Illinois."

"I also am pleased that Madison County is getting its fair share of the extra money" so that three key projects can proceed. These projects will help ease traffic congestion and improve highway safety.

The last choral concert of the school year will be given by the Prather School Chorus on Thursday at 8 p.m. The Mixed Chorus and the newly formed, Swing Choir will perform. The concert will be held at the direction of Sterling Schen.

The program includes many different selections using all types of choral music: classical, sacred, patriotic, and popular. The concert will conclude with a finale with the chorus and the Swing Choir performing the theme, song from "Pam" and a medley of patriotic selections.

The public is being invited to attend this final choral concert for Prather Junior High School. There is no admission charge.

LECTURE ON CREDIT AT SIUE RESCHEDULED

The Stephen Pollan lecture on "Credit, Money and You" has been rescheduled. The lecture will begin at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Illinois Room on the second floor of the University Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Pollan, professor of business at Marymount Manhattan College, will show audience members how to establish credit, get their first charge card, start and maintain a good credit history and secure a bank loan. He will also show the participants how to control their money matters and exercise their legal rights.

Participants will receive "Establishing Credit 101," a pamphlet for which Pollan was contributing editor. The publication answers questions about credit and credit cards.

For more information about the lecture, interested persons may contact the SIUE Student Program Board at 692-2617.

National Intergroup parent of steel firm

Present stockholders of National Steel Corporation will become the owners of a new parent firm, National Intergroup, Inc.

Merger procedures were acted on at the annual meeting last week in Pittsburgh. National Intergroup is to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The new holding company will not directly conduct any operations but will own the stock of a number of operating subsidiaries, including National Steel.

Owner since 1971 of Granite City Steel, National Steel was formed in 1929 to manufacture and sell a broad line of flat-rolled steel products and to produce and other raw materials incident to steel manufacture.

Although it maintains the predominant business of National Steel, the company has gradually diversified.

Starting with its entry into the metals service center field in 1961 and followed by its move into aluminum in 1968, the corporation has extended its activities into a number of new areas, both foreign and domestic.

These include entry into the financial services field, through the 1980 acquisition of NFI Financial Corp. and its savings and loan subsidiary, as well as relatively smaller operations in pipe and other heavy industry, international trading, insurance, engineering, and real estate sales and services, oil and gas exploration and development.

Although it is anticipated that the steel company will continue to remain an important part of the corporation's business, it is contemplated that the corporation's increasing emphasis will be placed on growth of non-steel businesses and on diversification and expansion into new areas.

The 17-member board, including Chairman Howard M. Love, a former president of Granite City Steel, concluded that the change in the nature of the overall business activities and the accomplishment of expansion and growth objectives required changes in the organization and structure.

This was achieved in part by internal operational and organizational changes in 1982, resulting in formation of six separate operating groups and the recent addition of a seventh group.

The board felt that in order to fully effect the changes, it was desirable that the public relations firm be restructured into separate legal units.

Love comments, "It is believed the reorganization and the consequent delineation of administrative and operating responsibilities in each of the separate corporate structures will lead to improvements in operating and administrative efficiency."

It will further enhance the ability of each business to develop and expand within the financial and other capabilities of its own corporate organization.

"Each business unit will stand on its own and it will not be affected by the needs of other units, as has been the case."

"Finally, the reorganization will provide flexibility for investment in additional activities and lines of business, and the disposition of any business which appears to be a poor investment opportunity to corporate profitability."

"While we are constantly studying possible entry into new lines, we have no current plans for acquisition of any new business. We are also continuously reviewing existing businesses and their possible disposition."

"Except for the pending sale of substantially all of the assets of the Weirton (W. Va.) Steel Division, we have no present plans for sale or other disposition of any existing businesses."

The reorganization, by segregating the various businesses into separate legal units, will facilitate sale or disposition of all or part of any business, spin-off of one or more businesses, or formation of joint ventures with third parties, or other business combinations."

The merger will become effective after receipt of a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service and after consent by third parties.

National Steel will transfer to its wholly-owned subsidiary, National Aluminum Corp., all of its assets related to the aluminum business.

The executive committee, which exercises board powers in management and business matters between meetings of the directors, consists of Chairman Love, Vice-Chairman Richard S. Smith, retired National Steel Chairman George A. Stinson and Nicholas J. Veeder.

Chairman of the Granite City Steel Division from 1971 to 1975, Veeder has been retired since then.

ISSUES DEBATED BY STATE GOV OFFICIALS

The second annual "Land of Lincoln Conference" for Illinois Republican officials ended Sunday in Springfield.

Patented after the annual Tidewater Conference which gathers together Republican officeholders from around the country, the Land of Lincoln meeting attracted 11 Illinois officials to debate and discuss major national issues affecting this state.

Joined by Charles H. Perigo in sponsoring the conference were Gov. James R. Thompson and Illinois Republican State Chairman Don W. Adams.

Participants will receive "Establishing Credit 101," a pamphlet for which Pollan was contributing editor. The publication answers questions about credit and credit cards.

For more information about the lecture, interested persons may contact the SIUE Student Program Board at 692-2617.

Announce lineup for Shrine Circus

General Chairman Gene Morris, Chief Rabbi of the Aish Temple, Divan says this year's Aish Circus will be the best ever and the new producer is bringing acts never seen around here before, such as the only Lady Lion Tamer in circus business.

The circus will open in Olney for evening Shows on June 1 and 2, then move to Belleville, where the Friday night, June 3, Parade will have more than 130 entries. The circus will be seen at the Belleville Fairgrounds on Saturday, June 4, at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m., and again on Sunday, June 5, at the same hours.

June 6 will see a great parade in Granite City that evening and the circus will play there on June 7, 8 and 9 at Tri-City Speedway. When finished there, it will move to DuQuoin for a parade on Saturday morning, June 11, then play a 2:30 date at the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds that day, plus a 7:30 evening performance, repeating on Sunday to finish the 17th year that Aish Shrine Temple has brought the circus to the people of Southern Illinois.

"We have kept the cost down to the same $3 for adults and $1.50 for children since we feel that our show is a family affair and we want everyone to attend. The Nobles of Aish Units do the local work, and help produce the concessions, thus we can keep the cost way down," Morris said.

Ada Smleya is the lady lion tamer and she works alone in the cage with lions and tigers. "This beautiful blonde is a striking complement to the scene of the animals she works with," Morris noted. Tony Diano is bringing Tommy, the largest performing tusker elephant in show business today. Tony says the intelligence of an elephant is normally overlooked by the circus fans, but Tommy is a reminder.

The James Zappe group, "a name in history of the circus, is one of the most talented of the Roisinback Riders, and their medieval joust with swords and armor is a thing to behold," Morris said.

He continues, "The Kneisley Duo is one of finest aerial cradle acts in today's circus world. The helicopter spin and neck hang are just two of the many thrills you will enjoy. Of course there will be humor in the form of Sir Chadwick Caine, and his 'Rolls Rotten' car, or is it a dream. Then there is the Winn Troupe who walks the inclined high wire. They are the ones you read about in the Guinness Book of World Records." About the Winn boy that performed at the age of 3 on the "That's Incredible" TV show.

Aishad has nearly 9,000 nobles who are part of the 41 Shrine Clubs and 40 Uniformed Units of Southern Illinois. They work to benefit the Shriner's Hospitals for Crippled Children, and the Cincinnati Burns Institute. Last year, 340 Children from Southern Illinois had applications at the hospital and it appears that number will be exceeded for 1983. The Temple also has 45 children it is transporting back and forth for care and operations to the Burns Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio, at no cost to the parents for the trips or care, the same as the orthopedic hospitals.

Persons knowing of a Crippled or burned child may call 1-800-237-5955 toll-free, to seek help.

Junior high concert Tuesday

The Coolidge-Prather Junior High School Band will present a spring concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Coolidge Cafeteria. Admission is free and the public is being invited to attend.

Featured will be "Highlights from Camelot," by Frederick Lowe and "Panorama U.S.A.," a composite of folksongs and melodies.

Other selections will include "Bubbling Woodwinds," to be performed by Kim Asbeck, Ellen Moss, Becky Bonvincino, Kelly Rogers and Yvonne Gilliam, and the brass quintet "The Entertainer," to be performed by Lisa Thomason, Elizabeth Oyen, Marie Shane, Charles Leavelle and Paul Brandt.

The combined band also will perform for Coolidge and Prather Junior High schools Wednesday morning.

The band is under the direction of Mary Ann Davis.

'Springfest' opens Wednesday at SIUE

"Attention to those looking for fun! Come out and enjoy hot dogs, ice cream, refreshments, sailing, music and fun at the annual 'Springfest' at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, May 18 to 20," says a spokesman for the SIUE Student Program Board, which has scheduled a number of activities, including bands, booths, food and contests to celebrate spring.

This year's events get underway Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the hairpin drive area of The Morris Quadrangle. The first race of the day is the spring cart event at 10:30 a.m. The band "FM," previously known as "Rapid Transit," will perform from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. This six-member group plays an assortment of rock 'n' roll, jazz and top 40 tunes. Contests of the day include ice cream eating, pizza eating, wet sponge pass-a-long and an egg toss.

Food and refreshments will be available at the Faculty Club from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. At 2:30 p.m., "Marchdown" will be staged between the fraternities and sororities. The Starbound Student Talent Show will top off the day in Meridian Ballroom from 8 to 11 p.m. Admission is $1 for students and $1.50 for non-students.

On Thursday, activities begin at 10:30 a.m. with the band "Boulderdash." This four-member country-western, bluegrass band recently competed in a St. Louis "Battle of the Bands" contest.

Contests on Thursday include a trike race, treasure hunt, cycling competition, bucket brigade and pie eating contest. Students will share a huge banana split at 12:30 p.m. from 7 to 11:30 p.m., the Faculty Club will feature food, refreshments, and dancing to the music of "Scanners," the new wave top 40 pop band.

Friday, the activities move to the Tower Lake recreation area. At 11:30 a.m. a lunch of B-B-Q, potato salad, baked beans, fresh pineapple and punch will be served. The cost of the lunch plate is $1 for students and $2 for non-students.

From noon 'til 5 p.m., all persons will be invited to join in the volleyball game. Also scheduled are a horseshoe tournament, tug of war competition, canoe and sail races.

Food and chance booths run by student organizations will be operating during the events. The activities are open to the public. For more information, interested persons may call the Student Program Board at 1-692-2617.

FORMER RESIDENT RECEIVES HONORS

Miss Toni Lynn Hulmer, a former resident of Granite City, was honored during the spring concert at Valmeyer Junior High School in Valmeyer, Ill. She was chosen Outstanding Chorus Student and Outstanding Band Student from the junior high. Toni will graduate from eighth grade this month.

Her parents, both former residents, are Mrs. Robert (Donna Cox) Mueller of Valmeyer, and Raymond D. Hillmer of Ingalls, Fla. Grandparents in Granite City are Mrs. Nellie Hilmyer and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Waugh. Toni's other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Cox of St. Charles, Mo., and Mrs. Alice Hoffmann of Valmeyer.

LAUNDRY GONE

Four pairs of jeans, six blouses, a shirt and slacks were among the items belonging to Sally Whitehead, 2436 E. 24th St., which were stolen from Plaza Laundromat, 2420 Nameoki Road, last week.
